

Concede Harbin To Communists; Ask Russians To Quit Darien

(By The Associated Press)
A Chinese government spokesman conceded the rich North Manchurian city of Harbin to the Communists today but insisted that the Russians get out of the southern port of Darien, which so far is not on the Red Army's schedule of withdrawals.

The spokesman, Minister of Information K. C. Wu, declared that Chinese Communists were "already in Harbin," from which the Russians are scheduled to withdraw by the end of the day.

Wu said he had no information on the situation at Darien "but Darien is a part of China and we expect the Russians to withdraw from all Manchuria before the end of the month, as they agreed."

Darien became a free port under the Chinese-Russian treaty of last August.

Several sources reported that Chinese government planes, trying to land at Harbin to evacuate fleeing government officials, found the airport already taken over by the Communists. The planes returned to Mukden, one of the few government-controlled Manchurian cities, without the officials. Earlier in the week, 81 administrators sent into Harbin weeks ago, had flown to Mukden.

Sage Jorgensen, the Danish consul who flew out of Harbin only yesterday, told Associated Press Photographer Julian Wilson in Mukden that Harbin residents would welcome the arrival of the Communists. He said the citizens feared an outbreak of robbery and looting if the Communists didn't take over because the government garrison there was too small to assume control.

Communist leaders said several days ago they would take Harbin as soon as the Russians withdrew.

Blame Goering For Frame-ups In Reich In '38

By NOLAND NORGARD
Nuremberg, April 25 (P)—A former German secret police official declared flatly today that Hermann Goering engineered frame-ups in 1938 which resulted in the dismissal of both the Reich war minister and the army's chief of staff—"The decisive last steps before the outbreak of war."

Hans Bernd Gisevius, one-time Gestapo officer, testified before the international military tribunal that Goering had compelled a common criminal to identify Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch, the army's chief of staff, as the perpetrator of an atrocious homosexual attack.

The dramatic denunciation of Von Fritsch, whom the German moderates had regarded as the man to overthrow the Nazis, was made in Adolf Hitler's presence, the tall, bespectacled witness asserted, nine days after Goering's own agents had established that the actual culprit in the case was one Capt. Von Frisch.

Gisevius, who testified yesterday that he plotted against the Nazis for 10 years while serving in various police jobs, declared that Goering knew in advance that elderly Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, the war minister, had fallen in love with a 28-year-old carpenter's daughter, but withheld the information until after the Fuehrer had been induced to attend the wedding.

VFW-SPONSORED SHOW PLEASING

The AMP shows playing this week on the old fairgrounds site on West High street are featuring the Louis Augustino circus side shows, with Leo the "untamable" lion, and a galaxy of acts with trained dogs, monkeys and ponies which has been attracting wide attention since opening day. The shows are sponsored in their appearance here by Gettysburg Post No. 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars for the building fund.

"Crowds have been good this week," said F. C. Boswell, business manager of the shows, today. "They seem to find much of interest in all of our attractions, and in particular the circus sideshow, the wild life show, and the cow with the human skin."

Record Voices
The shows also have several rides, among them a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, kiddie airplane ride, chair-o-plane and tilt-o-whirl. There is a monkey speedway, a penny arcade, where Gettysburgians may have their own voices recorded and the record played back to them, and other attractions.

Colonel John S. Rice Urges Registration Of Voters At Dinner Here

Democrats from Adams, Franklin and York counties, and from the high places of the party councils in the Commonwealth and the nation gathered Wednesday night at the Battlefield hotel to do honor to Col. John S. Rice, native son of Adams county and candidate for the nomination for governor, and his running mates, at a Jackson Day dinner attended by 200 persons.

Registration of voters was the keynote of the addresses by Colonel Rice and other speakers, with the Democratic party held out as "the hope of the common people." Speakers, in addition to Colonel Rice, included U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, State Sen. John R. Dent, candidate for lieutenant governor; John W. Brehm, "candidate for the party nomination for Congress; John W. Lucabaugh, candidate for the General Assembly, and Charles F. Brannan, Denver, assistant secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Much Work Ahead
"It is a sobering thought, as we meet here at our ease, that there has never been a time in our generation when there was so much to be done in the world, when there were so many pressing problems, or when public sentiment was as heavily burdened with responsibility as it is now," Colonel Rice declared. "Moreover," he continued, "the fact was never more evident that only an informed public sentiment, a thinking, voting public sentiment can solve the problems of our day."

"But how can we expect to wage a people's battle if only some of the people are qualified to discharge their duties as citizens?" Colonel Rice asked, in declaring that 2,000,000 persons in Pennsylvania eligible to vote are not registered.

"I should like to see a registration campaign that would be 100 per cent effective," the gubernatorial candidate continued. "All our parties and our party leaders, all our religious and labor leaders, all leaders of our fraternal groups, all leaders of our service clubs, all our people, everybody, should be equally interested in promoting good citizenship."

Guffey Backs Brehm
"If civic leaders can get the people registered, it will be our job to convince those who register that it is to their interest to support the candidates nominated by the Democratic party. . . . If I am nominated and elected governor, I want to be elected by a majority of all the people, rather than a majority of a part of the people, and whoever is defeated has a right to expect defeat by a majority."

In introducing Sen. Guffey, Richard A. Brown, toastmaster, declared: "We must send this man back, we know where he stands." Senator Guffey said that while the Democratic party may have made some mistakes, "the Republican party has made more, and worse ones," and declared that "there is no leadership in the Republican party, either in Washington or the nation. If we can get the people registered and get them out to vote, we will win. I am confident that if we have a big vote, we will be the winners."

Speaking of the candidacy of Mr. Brehm for congress, Senator Guffey said: "I want to tell Mr. Brehm that I will be in there pitching for him to put Mr. Gross back in private life where he belongs."

Challenges Martin
Turning to a brief discussion of the fight on the OPA in congress, Senator Guffey challenged Governor Martin "to come out in the open and tell the people where he stands on price control. Is he for the National Association of Manufacturers, or for the working people? Is he for soaring prices and runaway inflation, or is he for price regulation that will protect the people with limited income?"

Senator Dent declared that "at every critical time in the history of the nation, the Democratic party has found the proper man to save it, and that now it has found the man to save the commonwealth."

"The Democratic party long ago cast its lot with the common people," he said. "John Rice was selected by people who felt that the party's first duty was to the common people."

Attacks GOP Rule
"And whatever else people may say about Joe Guffey, they can never say that he has ever forgotten that the most good must be done for the greatest number."

Senator Dent charged that the Republican party in Pennsylvania had been "negligent in its proper functions of taking care of the people." He said it was "more interested in pointing to a big surplus piled up in spite of mismanagement." He charged that taxes were still being levied that were no longer needed to run the Commonwealth and should have been removed in the second year of the James administration.

REV. H. S. FOX ASKS PEACE AT S.U.V. DINNER

"The only way to secure peace is first to seek righteousness," the Rev. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Reformed church, declared Wednesday evening in an address at the annual Appomattox Day dinner held by the Sons of Union Veterans.

"The end of the Civil war at Appomattox 81 years ago brought peace to the entire nation, and that peace has been a lasting one. The desire for peace seems to be born in us because our forefathers came from other countries of the world to America to seek peace and freedom. The peace they made was just and thus it was lasting."

"All we seek is peace and we are like children crying in the night because our desires are mocked by war. Yet we seek it in the wrong way. The wars we deplore follow as a cause from an effect. Friction between nations leads to war and there is friction between nations today as there has always been."

"Much of the cause of war comes from the fact that nations have a double standard of living—one for the government and one for the people. Governments make solemn promises and then abridge the promises."

"But it is impossible to build peace on the idea that might makes right. There can be no peace from power politics. God's way is the righteous way and only by following the righteous way can the world find peace."

"We must make the cornerstone of our national and international efforts not comfort and security, but justice, truth and righteousness—and from that cornerstone will come peace."

Jesse E. Snyder, of the Sons of Union Veterans, spoke briefly on the story of Appomattox. Thomas C. Winebrenner was master of ceremony for the affair held in the YWCA. Forty-four members of the SUV and affiliated organizations attended the dinner.

LITTLESTOWN ON DAYLIGHT TIME; DEFER METER ACTION

The Littlestown borough council Tuesday evening voted to postpone action on parking meters for an additional 30 day period or less, approved daylight saving time, set the first full week of May as the time for the annual spring clean-up campaign and agreed to extend the water mains along new streets formed in the borough.

Frank Connelly, representative of the C. K. Koonz equipment company and William Buhl of the McGee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co., Pittsburgh, presented their individual meters before council, but the council unanimously agreed to again postpone action until a further study could be made. The representatives were told they would be notified some time within the next 30 days as to the date for taking final action on the meters.

Daylight Time
Following a lengthy discussion the council voted that it approves of the borough going on daylight saving time, but said that due to the law of Pennsylvania, the borough has no authority to change the time. In order to cooperate with the merchants and industries of the town however, the council voted to meet at 6:30 p. m. one hour earlier than usual during the period from May to September and voted that all borough employees would go to work one hour earlier and quit one hour earlier each day.

Borough Secretary Roger J. Keefe told the council that the subject of daylight time had been referred to him by a member of the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce, who had asked what action the council planned to take on the daylight time. A survey of merchants and manufacturers had revealed almost unanimous approval of daylight time, Keefe said.

Homer Yingling, of Littlestown, was directed to have charge of the rubbish collection during the annual clean-up week.

Extend Water Main
Bids for the work were received from William Gastley, Gettysburg, who asked $60 for the job of picking up the rubbish, hauling it from the borough and finding a place to dump it, while Yingling bid $50. The annual clean-up will take place the first full week in May. However, council moved that it would not be responsible for the removal of rubbish in barrels, cartons, bags or boxes that was placed at the curbs later than Wednesday evening, May 8. Council also decided that the clean-up would not include the removal of ashes, stones or bricks.

On motion of Councilman J. Edgar Yealy council voted to extend the six-inch water main from Newark Street via Prince Street to the Bonneauville road, outside the borough limits, and then along the Bonneauville road to North Queen street, then along North Queen from the Bonneauville road to the present four-inch main located near the R. L. Crouse garage. The secretary was authorized to obtain a ditching machine to dig the trench for the main. H. Snyder was listed as the first resident beyond the borough limits along the Bonneauville road to ask for water service.

Offers Street To Town
An additional portion of Prince street, which has not as yet been deeded to the borough has been offered to the borough by Neveah A. (Please Turn to Page 6)

Weather Forecast

Strong Measures To Boost Yank Discipline In Reich

Frankfurt, Germany, April 25 (AP)—Rigorous measures to combat a deterioration of discipline among American troops in Europe—incloding busy training schedules for all and an 11 p. m. curfew for soldiers with bad conduct records—were ordered today by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney.

The European commander-in-chief, admitting that morale and discipline have declined seriously within the last few months, told a news conference he had issued orders that "prompt corrective measures must be taken to remove the cause, deal swiftly and justly with the offenders and limit and prevent any future occurrences."

Earlier army medical officers had recommended that the troops be given plenty of work on the drill field as one means of fighting an excessive venereal disease rate.

Major Claude M. Eberhart of Chicago, venereal disease control officer for the European theater, proposed that all major commands in Europe "return to garrison life" and its strict discipline to fight venereal disease, which he said now averages 211 cases per thousand men per year.

Cars Collide At Local Intersection

Damage was estimated at $240 when cars of Harold Cromwell, West Middle street and William L. Zundel, Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland county, collided Wednesday at the intersection of South Washington and West Middle street.

Zundel is a student at Gettysburg college. The car was owned by his father, Charles Zundel. The college student said that he did not notice the stop sign at the intersection of Washington and Middle streets and continued south into Middle street, striking the Cromwell car in the middle.

COUNTY NAVAL OFFICER GETS BRONZE MEDAL

Lieutenant Commander Howard Bowers Peters, USNR, a native of Adams county, was recently awarded the Bronze Star medal for action in the Pacific which took place more than a year ago. The following citation from the Commander First Carrier Task Force, Pacific Fleet, accompanied the award:

"For heroic service in connection with operations against the enemy while serving as Recognition Officer aboard a United States carrier operating in the vicinity of Formosa Island on 21 January 1945. After the ship was hit during an enemy air attack, he was directed to abandon his station as Lookout Officer because of the raging fires and exploding ammunition. He chose to remain on his exposed station while under continuing enemy air attacks and assisted in reestablishing director control of the ship's guns. He organized volunteer lookouts who aided the ship's gunners in repelling succeeding enemy air attacks by their accurate spotting of enemy planes. His initiative, courage, and skill were at all times in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Lt. Comdr. Peters is the son of Mrs. Sadie Peters, Heidelsburg. He was graduated from the Biglerville high school in 1927 and received his college training at the Shippensburg State Teachers' college, West Chester Teachers' college, and the University of Pennsylvania. After twelve years of teaching in the public schools of Bucks and Montgomery counties, he entered the naval service in December 1942.

Lt. Comdr. Peters is now the Transportation Officer at the Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.

Miss Doris Glenn Honored By Class

Doris C. Glenn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John G. Glenn, 27 East Lincoln avenue, was elected permanent president of the senior class at the spring elections at Gettysburg college.

In recognition of her scholastic and extra-curricular achievements throughout her four years at Gettysburg, Miss Glenn has been invited to membership in the Gettysburg Honor society, an organization formed in 1934 to honor seniors who maintained at least a "B" average while distinguishing themselves as campus leaders.

Miss Glenn, who is a member of Phi Mu national sorority, is a biology major and is planning to go into research work after her graduation. During her years at Gettysburg she has served as associate editor of the "Gettysburgian," president of Beta Beta Beta, national honorary biology fraternity, and as a member of the Student Christian Association cabinet.

Transit Company Granted Extension

The Public Utility commission Wednesday approved the application of the Adams Transit company for the additional right to transport passengers from York to the Mechanicsburg Naval depot over routes through McSherrystown, New Oxford, Abbotstown and Dillsburg. The commission also approved the operation of shuttle service from points on the route to the depot.

The commission also granted the transit company special permission to transport the York Baseball club on its regular playing schedule between York, Harrisburg, Sunbury, Lancaster and Allentown, for a period of four months.

SHETTER HEADS CAMPAIGN FOR FOOD AND CASH FOR EUROPEANS

Cloyd Shetter, Chambersburg street, who headed the Gettysburg Lions club's community collection of used clothing for European needy early this year, has accepted community chairmanship of an emergency food collection, it was disclosed today. The drive for food will extend from May 12 to 31.

Mr. Shetter has telegraphed Henry A. Wallace, national chairman of the food campaign, that he will comply with Mr. Wallace's request to direct the food campaign in Gettysburg and other communities in the county who contributed used clothing through the local committee.

At the Lions club meeting next Monday evening President Glenn L. Bream is expected to name a co-chairman to assist Mr. Shetter at his own request. Additional members of the food campaign committee also may be named at the same time.

Seek Can Of Food Per Person.
Although no quota has been set for the community by the national chairman, Mr. Shetter said today he is appealing for one can of food for every Adams countian. The appeal is for canned foods or cash. No other type of food will be acceptable. Instructions from national headquarters indicated.

The Wallace telegram stressed the urgency of collecting large quantities of canned foods promptly for quick shipment abroad where millions suffer from under-nourishment and face starvation unless help comes very soon from America.

Mr. Shetter appealed to all civic organizations to help promote the drive and to make contributions of food or cash—which will be converted into food. A special appeal will be made to wholesalers and retailers in this area to donate generously to the drive.

A central collection point for the campaign will be announced soon. In the used clothing drive conducted here in February under Mr. Shetter's direction, over seven tons of clothing and shoes were gathered from Gettysburg, upper Adams county communities, York Springs, New Oxford, Fairfield, Cashtown, East Berlin, Abbotstown, Bonneauville, McKnightstown, Orrtanna and other communities.

4TH DISTRICT S.S. GROUP TO MEET SUNDAY

Trinity Lutheran church, East Berlin, will be the site of the 48th annual convention of the Fourth District Sunday School association of Adams county on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The general theme will be "The Sunday School's Contribution To World Peace."

There will be a song service led by Faber Wildasin, greeting by Merrill A. Yohe, and devotions in charge of the Rev. Snyder Alleman, pastor of the East Berlin church. An instrumental duet number will be rendered by Blaine Wildasin and Herbert Hoke.

Election of officers for the association will take place, after which they will be installed by Charles L. Gentzler.

Special music is being prepared by the choir of Trinity church, and the Rev. William H. Banks, Hanover, has been invited to make an address.

In charge of conferences are: Ira E. Lobaugh, chairman, and the Rev. Alvin J. Forry, East Berlin Reformed pastor, speaker, for the Adult division; Miss Grace Smith, chairman, and the Rev. Henry Sternat, Biglerville Lutheran clergyman, speaker, for the Young People's division; and Mrs. Charles L. Gentzler, chairman, and Mrs. William Barmont, Harrisburg, speaker for the Children's group. A song service and the reading of announcements will be followed by a benediction by the Rev. Mr. Alleman.

Wac And Wave Have Filed Discharges

Pfc. Pauline E. Koonz, East Railroad street, and S 1/c Marjorie Lorraine Sanders, navy, are among former servicemen and women to file their discharges at the court house for recording. Others who have filed are:

Pvt. Junior W. Wirt, Gettysburg R. 3; T/4 Eugene C. Timbers, 700 South Washington street; Sgt. Maurice J. Felix, Jr., Gettysburg R. 2; Sgt. Robert E. Epley, Gettysburg; Elec. M. 3/c Robert Francis Groff, navy, and T/5 Pius R. Martin, New Oxford R. 1.

CHAMBER ASKS TOWN TO ADOPT DAYLIGHT TIME

The Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce today "authorizes and recommends the town-wide adoption of Daylight Saving Time" in a half-page display advertisement.

The Chamber advertisement announces this action "in view of the fact that the majority of Gettysburg's industries and all of the churches have adopted Daylight Saving Time for the period beginning at 2 a. m. Sunday, April 28, and extending until 2 a. m. Sunday, September 29."

Favor Daylight Time
The advertisement further states that the Chamber "as Gettysburg's official civic organization, representing the business, industrial and civic life of the community, takes this action upon recommendation of the majority of business interests of the community who have expressed their preference for the adoption of Daylight Saving Time during the forthcoming five month period."

After expressing its thanks for the cooperation of its members in the recent survey of public opinion relative to Daylight time, the Chamber asks town residents to:

"Move your clocks and watches ahead one hour when you retire Saturday evening, April 27, and you will then be in keeping with Daylight Saving Time for the next five months."

All schools in town will operate on Daylight time beginning Monday morning.

Others To Change
The Gettysburg and Harrisburg Transportation company buses will also operate on Daylight time.

Services at the Presbyterian church will be conducted on Daylight time and announcement of the hours of service will be published in the church bulletin on Daylight and Standard times.

The Majestic and Strand theaters will operate on Daylight time as will Gettysburg college and the Lutheran Theological seminary.

The large clock in front of the First National bank building will be changed to Daylight time early Sunday morning. Both banks will operate on Daylight time.

SCHOOL GIVES LIBRARY BOOKS

Boistering the yet inadequate supply of juvenile books at the Adams County Free Library and setting a precedent that Miss Kathryn Oller, county librarian, hopes will be followed by many other schools throughout the county, Belmont school in Cumberland township announced today the donation of its school book collection to the county library.

The school, now served regularly by the bookmobile from the county library, explained that the Belmont pupils have read and re-read their limited supply of books and, since bookmobile service is available, now wish to share their books with the other school boys and girls of the county. The teacher is Mrs. Elsie R. Swisher.

Popular books for young people in the Belmont collection included Bible Stories, Rear Admiral Byrd, The Call of the Wild, Kidnapped, The Little Rebel, Adventures of Ulysses, An Old Fashioned Girl and other children's favorites.

Miss Oller announced today that the county library will operate on Daylight time beginning Monday. The advancing of time for the main library will not interfere with the bookmobile schedule. The bookmobile will arrive at each school at approximately the same time as on the April visits.

COUPLES TO WED
Marriage licenses were issued at the court house today to Robert Leo Bolin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bolin, McSherrystown, and Miss Genevieve Gertrude Smith, daughter of Elmer Smith, Irishtown, and Mrs. Grace Smith, New Oxford, and to Anthony Thomas Mullen, Philadelphia, and Miss Bernadette Josephine Cool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cool, Gettysburg R. 1.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. James Dorsey, Mechanicsburg, announce the birth of a daughter, Joyce Eileen, April 18 at Seidie Memorial hospital, Mechanicsburg. Mrs. Dorsey is the former Miss Alma Evans, Gardners.

Milinery, handbags, suits, plastic belts, extra large panties, brassieres, panty girdles, dresses have arrived at The Smart Shoppe, Carlisle Street.

The Scriptist Club Rummage Sale will be held Friday and Saturday this week in the former Stoner Tire Shop.

Radio batteries, Baker's Battery Service.

ANOTHER SITE INSPECTED FOR JAIL LOCATION

Another possible site for the proposed new county jail was under consideration today by the county commissioners.

The commissioners Wednesday looked over the land lying on the south side of West Middle street between a proposed borough street, on the south side of Middle about 100 yards west of Hay street, and the home of Prof. Herbert G. Hamme on West Confederate avenue.

The land has been laid out in building lots and the commissioners estimated that four front lots and a rear lot would be needed if the county is to place the jail there.

"While the matter is still in the 'thought stage' and no decision has been reached by the commissioners, several commissioners expressed themselves as well pleased by the site and felt that it would make a good place to locate the jail."

No Final Decision
From this location the prisoners could easily be taken to the court house and the location is open enough to permit the construction of a wire fence about the prisoners' yard. The commissioners had previously pointed out that if the jail is built in some crowded section of town the barrier about the prison yard will have to be made of stone.

Most of the land involved is owned by the heirs of the late Abraham Staley, the Hooper estate managed by William Kepner of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, and Professor Hamme.

While the commissioners are discussing the possibility of constructing the jail at the site, they made it clear that no final decision has been reached and that the matter is still wide open with the originally proposed site at the county poor farm, the old fair grounds on West High street, the Middle street location and several other possible sites still under consideration.

TELLS OF VAST PROBLEMS WITH FREE EDUCATION

Predicting a "terrible epidemic of mental indigestion in the next few years," Dr. H. Sherman Oberly, dean of admissions at the University of Pennsylvania, told a joint meeting of the schoolmen's associations of York, Adams and Franklin counties at the Hotel Gettysburg Wednesday evening that while army techniques served their particular need "mental growth takes time and in the long run we don't gain by too much acceleration."

Devoting most of his address to a discussion of the problems confronting colleges and universities by reason of the tens of thousands of ex-servicemen and the increased proportion of high school graduates seeking college training the speaker asserted: "Our institutions simply are not geared to handle general free education on such a scale."

Doctor Oberly who before V-J Day was an associate professor of psychology at the university talked on the theme "A Free Education for All People in a General Society" and quoted frequently writings of Benjamin Franklin on the topic of free education in the middle eighteenth century.

Keefauver Presides
Observing that the University of Pennsylvania is now closing enrollments for the term opening in September, 1947, he pointed out that the enrollment of 500 ex-servicemen for a college education involves an expenditure of nearly $2,500,000. He spoke favorably of the possibility of developing Indian Gap Military Reservation as a site for a new college.

Freed Confesses To Other Thefts

Burnell Freed, Hanover, arrested several weeks ago for stealing some money and clothes from the home of John Codori, York street, has confessed to additional robberies local police said today.

Freed told Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster that he had taken some articles from a car on West Middle street last fall or winter and that he is on parole from Colorado state penitentiary on a larceny of a pocketbook charge.

RUSS REFUSAL CAUSES WORRY ON PARLEY EVE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Russia's refusal to accept the majority decision of the U. N. Security Council to retain the troublesome Soviet-Iranian case on the agenda, coming on top of previous evidences of non conformity, is causing worry (though by no means despondency) about the future of the peace organization and consequently is casting a shadow across the vital conference of Big Four ministers as it assembles in Paris today to tackle the tough problem of framing European peace treaties.

The question which is causing the burning of midnight oil in diplomatic circles is what chance there is of accord among the major powers if one of them refuses to play ball unless it likes the way the game is going. Differences of viewpoint must be expected, of course, but if any one of the paramount Big Three decides to play a lone hand, in defiance of majority opinion, there obviously can be no unity.

The harsh corollary to this is that without unity there can be no peace. To change to a more blunt figure of speech, one wonders whether the type of husbandry currently being practiced by some prelates the sowing of another crop of dragon's teeth.

New Show-down

Russia's direct-actionist methods—such as announcing that she will boycott any further discussion of the Iranian case because she doesn't agree with the majority—obviously is inspired by her belief that Britain and the United States are trying to stymie what she regards as her legitimate ambitions. There has indeed been a hardening of the attitude of the Western Allies recently towards what they regard as excessive ambition on the part of the Soviet Union in the expansion of its zones of influence.

The crux of the matter naturally lies in what really is in the minds of the Big Three. Is Russia right in her belief that she is being unjustly hampered? Are the Western Allies correct in viewing the Soviet's undoubtedly vigorous expansion of her zones of influence as a menace to their interests and to international peace? Or are both sides harboring unwarranted suspicions?

The answers to these key questions may be delivered with a bang at the foreign ministers' conference. That will be all to the good if it forces a show-down so that each of the powers can learn what the other fellows have in mind.

Typical Example

The trouble thus far has been that the Big Three have been too dependent on mind-reading. Not overlooking that we should be sure we have the mote out of our own eye before we try to extract the beam from the other chap's, it is fair enough to remark that mind-reading has been rendered even more difficult by the direct-actionist tactics which Moscow has introduced into diplomacy.

The Muscovites act first and explain afterwards—if at all. This is true not only of diplomacy but of all relations, as witness a typical example in Austria.

America's General Mark W. Clark has just protested to the Russians over the attack by four Soviet fighter planes on a European Transport Service plane April 21. The day before that four Red fighters attacked another transport. Both transports are reported to have been in their proper zones. The Russians just zoomed in and opened fire without warning, and the explanation was left to the imagination of the unhappy transport crews.

The Big Three are treading on dangerous ground. However, as already remarked, we may get a denouement at the foreign ministers' conference since the framing of the treaties, and especially the Italian pact, is related to the zones of influence. So the aims and policies of the Big Three may become more apparent. It should be noted, however, that the conferees are not filled with joyous optimism as they go into session.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Mrs. Janet Harbaugh, 426 West Middle street; George Overholzer, Taneytown; Nina Fisel, Gettysburg R. 1; Mrs. John Sherman, New Oxford; and Mrs. Curtis Eisenhart, East Berlin, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Glenn Schultz, Fairfield; Mrs. Parr Breighner, Littlestown R. 2; Mrs. Clarence Forsythe, Biglerville R. 1, and Mrs. Addison Newman, Littlestown R. D.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Gerald Blocher, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blocher, Aspers R. 1, still remains unconscious at the Warner hospital after being struck by a truck in Biglerville on April 8.

Weddings

Finnegan—Welkert

Lois A. Welkert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul I. Welkert, York, and Joseph F. Finnegan, Jr., son of Joseph F. Finnegan, York, were married Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock in the rectory of St. Rose of Lima church, York. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Father H. J. Howarth.

The bride had for her maid of honor, her sister, Dorothy J. Welkert. A brother of the bridegroom, John Finnegan, McSherrystown, served as best man. The bride wore a two-piece light blue dress with matching accessories and her flowers were a white orchid. The maid of honor was attired in pink with matching accessories. Her flowers were red roses.

The bridegroom graduated from the York Catholic high school in 1940 and the bride from William Penn senior high school, York. She previously had attended Gettysburg high school. A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home and the newly-weds left immediately on a honeymoon trip to the Pocono mountains.

Kuntz—Welker

The marriage of Miss Mae Welker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Welker, Gettysburg R. 3, to Frederic Kuntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Kuntz, Gardners R. D., was solemnized at Bethlehem Lutheran church, Bendersville, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble who performed the double-ring ceremony.

The couple was unattended. During the ceremony Mrs. Coble played "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The bride graduated from Biglerville high school in 1945 and is now employed at the Gettysburg furniture factory. Mr. Kuntz attended Biglerville high school and is employed on a fruit farm.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a short wedding trip after which they will reside in their newly furnished home on Gardners R. D.

DEATH

John W. Cassat

John W. Cassat, 79, Hanover, died Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock at the Hanover General hospital, where he had been admitted as a patient April 15. Death followed an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Cassat was a son of the late Peter G. and Susan C. Tate Cassat, and was born July 3, 1866. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church, New Baltimore. His wife, who before marriage was Laura Ann Staley, preceded him in death November 13, 1930.

Surviving him are one daughter, Mrs. A. May Sprengle, with whom he resided; two grandchildren; one great-grandchild; three sisters, Mrs. John Dotterer and Mrs. Charles Stallsmith, both of Gettysburg, and Mrs. Martha Reigle, York, and one brother, Benjamin Cassat, Baltimore. Funeral Friday afternoon with services conducted at 2 o'clock at the Frederick Bucher funeral home, Frederick street, the Rev. Robert C. Schiebel, pastor of the Mt. Carmel Lutheran church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Dr. John S. Tome, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Hanover. Interment in Mt. Carmel cemetery, Littlestown.

Friends may call this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the Bucher funeral home.

BULLETINS

Paris, April 25 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers of four victorious world powers assembled in Paris today to iron out differences which have blocked efforts to draft peace treaties for Italy and other vanquished nations.

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The United States reportedly was ready today to agree to reconsider claims of hungry Allied nations before making good a pledge to ship half a million tons of food to Japan by the end of June.

New York, April 25 (AP)—Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodger manager, today was acquitted by an all-male jury of a charge of second degree assault against a 23-year-old Dodger fan.

Washington, April 25 (AP)—CIO Secretary James B. Carey said today that "certain greedy interests" are out to sabotage price controls. He got into an immediate argument with Senator Millikin (R-Colo) on whether party politics is involved.

Asperg, Germany, April 25 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn, former leader of the German-American Bund, was released from grim Asperg prison this afternoon, a free man in the ruined "New Germany" he supported during Hitler's days of power.

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—Criminal prosecution leading to jail terms was proposed today as an all-out fight was launched to break up what the OPA calls a widespread black market in meat in Philadelphia.

The daily weather map of the United States was first published by the government in 1871.

MRS. GROUP, 91, EXPIRES TODAY

Mrs. Mary A. Group, 91, widow of Jacob Group, died this morning at 2 o'clock at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Noy Lightner, Landisburg. Infirmities of age caused death.

Mrs. Group, who was born near Arendtsville, was a daughter of the late George and Sophia (Wolf) Bluebaugh. She had resided near Landisburg for the last 10 years. When she resided in Adams county, she was a member of the Lutheran church at Arendtsville.

Surviving are these children: Mrs. Lightner, at whose home she died; Mrs. Clair Bucher, Gettysburg; John Group, Harrisburg; two brothers, David Bluebaugh, Washington, Pa., and Harry, of Biglerville R. D.; a sister, Mrs. Francis Stallsmith, Carlisle street, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services from the Bender funeral home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Paul R. Wright, Landisburg, officiating. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday after 7 p. m.

WELFARE UNIT BOARD MEETS

An amendment to the constitution of the Adams County Welfare Council making all executives of social agencies in the borough permanent members of the board of directors of the council was proposed Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the board at the court house.

The amendment, which will make the heads of the Department of Public Assistance in the county, the Red Cross executive secretary, the Boy Scout field executive, state nurse, Child Welfare secretary, county librarian and the judge permanent members of the board will be submitted for adoption at the general meeting of the council May 22 at 8 p. m. in the court house.

Another amendment to be submitted at that time will permit the board to give notice of proposed constitutional changes by advertising in the newspapers 15 days in advance of the meeting at which the matter is to be voted upon instead of sending notice to all members.

Dr. Bruce Wolff, head surgeon at the Warner hospital, gave the directors additional information on the possibility of establishing an isolation ward at the hospital and suggested the organization of a public project to secure the isolation ward.

Countian Involved In 3-Car Accident

A main spring leaf on the right front of his car broke when he was crossing the railroad tracks, causing him to lose control of his auto, and David Morgan of Cashtown, swerved off the road and hit two cars parked at the Ambau inn late Wednesday night.

A total of $500 damage was caused by the accident, state police reported. No one was injured. The cars belonged to Philip Haar, Spring Grove R. 2, and Malvin Sauter, Menges Mills. The inn is two miles west of Spring Grove on the road to Hanover.

Second District Plans Convention

The annual convention of the Second Church School district will be held in the Zion Lutheran church, Fairfield, on Sunday, May 5, at 2:30 p. m.

Included among the conference leaders and speakers will be the Rev. Dr. Dwight Putman, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Lloyd Garretson, Biglerville, county superintendent of children's church school work.

Henry Burkhard, of Orttanna, district president, will preside and lead a devotional period. Officers for the coming year will be elected and installed.

Mt. Hope Church To Welcome Home Vets

A Welcome Home service for returning war veterans will be held at the Mt. Hope United Brethren church Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

A returned chaplain, now at Lebanon Valley college, will be the speaker. The service will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. V. M. Fickes.

The public is invited to attend.

Miss Mary Auvil is head of the home economics department at Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Feender and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seaman, Biglerville, have returned from a six-week motor trip to the west coast and through Mexico and Canada.

BOMB TICKING NEAR PALACE

London, April 25 (AP)—Bomb disposal experts awaited tensely today the expected explosion of a 1,000-pound German bomb, the mechanism of which suddenly came to life last night after the half-ton of explosives had lain buried for five years near Buckingham Palace.

Police, anticipating the blast at any moment maintained a cordon around St. James Park and diverted all traffic away from the danger area.

The mechanism of the bomb—famously known as "Annie"—started ticking last evening after it was uncovered at the bottom of a 30-foot shaft by a disposal squad making preparations for its removal. Major A. E. Smith, commanding the disposal squad, said the mechanism might continue ticking for four days, but declared that if the bomb failed to explode by 7 p. m. (1 p. m. EST) Friday "we'll blow it up."

The bomb is 350 yards from Buckingham Palace, London residence of King George VI. The windows of the palace were thrown open to lessen the effect of a possible blast. The King, Queen and the two Princesses remained at Windsor Castle, where they had gone for the Easter holidays.

However, Queen Mother Mary, accompanied by the Earl of Athlone, former governor-general to Canada, and his wife, returned to Queen Mary's Marlborough house residence, directly across the Mall from the buried bomb.

BANKER DIES

Cresson, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Blair C. Seeds, 75, prominent central Pennsylvania banker, died at his home in this Cambria county town last night following a long illness. He was for many years a personal representative of the late Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate. He leaves his widow, a daughter and a sister.

Tyrone, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Struck by a passing train while leaning from the cab of his engine, Elwood H. Miller, 42, of Altoona, a locomotive fireman for Pennsylvania railroads middle division, was killed near here yesterday. His widow and several children survive.

Manila, April 25 (AP)—Colorful Manuel Roxas, who campaigned strenuously for the Philippines presidency while incumbent Sergio Osmena sat silently in the palace, forged into an 82,282 vote lead tonight.

Arendtsville

Mrs. William Warren, of Harrisburg, visited relatives in town Wednesday.

Mrs. Robert Payne, of Hershey, is spending this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carey.

W. H. Pitzer has gone with friends to spend some time in California and other places in the west.

Mrs. Harry Trostle was hostess to the Blue Ribbon club this afternoon. At the same time Mrs. H. B. Raffensperger entertained the Carnation Guild.

Mrs. Lynn Freed and daughters have returned from a visit with Mr. Freed in East Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Melvin Warren and Bradford Peterson have been appointed by the Rev. Nevin R. Frantz to collect funds from the members of the Reformed church for the erection of a building at Homewood, in Hagerstown, the Reformed Church Home.

TELLS OF VAST

(Continued from Page 1) tary reservation as an emergency educational unit to help handle the thousands that are being turned away from the established colleges and universities although he said there might be difficulty in staffing it.

"I am unalterably opposed to the proposition of going to college because nothing else can be found to do—or because the young man can't find anywhere else to live," Doctor Oberly stated emphatically. "Many of them would be much happier in some specialized vocational program. There would be less frustration and more happiness with better pre-enrollment guidance."

Dr. L. C. Keefeauver, Gettysburg superintendent of schools, presided at the dinner meeting and introduced the representatives of the schoolmen's units of the three counties participating in the meeting. Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant Adams county superintendent of schools, outlined the preliminary plans and the program for the summer conference for educators to be held at Gettysburg college, June 17 to 19.

Educators attending the dinner meeting included Huber Strine, head of the York county Schoolmen's club; Paul Shull, Waynesboro, president of the Franklin county schoolmen's organization; L. V. Stock and C. P. Keefe, both of Biglerville, representing the Adams county unit; Harvey Swartz, York County superintendent; Marsby C. Little, Waynesboro superintendent of schools, and J. Floyd Slaybaugh, Adams county superintendent.

Town Briefs

Joe Becker, scoutmaster of the Catholic Boy Scout troop the other night decided to take the troop to the movies en masse. He asked Manager Sydney Poppay about the possibility of getting a special rate—instead Poppay said he would be host to the entire outfit and so the boys got to see the show free. . . .

The Rev. Robert M. Hunt is having difficulty in becoming a civilian—seems his civilian clothes are all in storage at York and he can't convince the company they should deliver. Meantime he's wearing his navy uniform. . . . This story happened some time ago but it's worth telling now; it seems one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Britcher became ill. Weeks went by and despite the efforts of two doctors the youngster did not get well. Finally Mrs. Britcher looked wonderingly at Frank and said "a fine thing, we have two doctors and you own a drug store and that child still has her cough." . . . The VFW flag pole is all ready to be placed in the ground. The Carlisle street home of the vets of foreign wars will really look nice once the pole is up, the flag raised and the two anti-tank guns embedded in their concrete base on the lawn in front of the house.

Opens Enlarged Appliance Store

Clair F. Ditzler, York Springs merchant, today announced the opening of his enlarged appliance store there.

Ditzler recently purchased the hardware store of H. B. Pearson which was next door to the Ditzler Appliance store and has remodeled the entire structure, taking over the quarters formerly occupied by both his own store and the Pearson store for the appliance store. The newly refurnished rooms have been designed in modern style. Ditzler is staging a two-day re-opening period Friday and Saturday in celebration of the completion of the work.

RETIRED PASTOR DIES

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—The Rev. Robert Bagnell, 80, former Harrisburg pastor, died yesterday in Methodist hospital after a short illness. Mr. Bagnell retired from active church duty in 1933 after serving the Grace Methodist church in Harrisburg for 16 years.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Best War Memorial I Know

There's an old war memorial in our town that I like to stop and look at now and then.

Back in 1865, folks gathered up all the bitter relics of battle and put them in a pile: cannon, battered rifles, broken swords, and rusted bayonets. Some of them from our side, some captured from the enemy.

They melted them down, and from this litter of war sprung a monument to friendship, tolerance and understanding—a promise that the bitterness and hatred were forgotten.

Since then, there've been all kinds of disagreements in this country, big and little. Prohibition was one—and there was plenty of bloodshed, misery and grief until the problem was resolved.

But from where I sit, it's part of the greatness of America that we remain a united country. We may disagree as individuals—but, accepting that difference of opinion, we can live in tolerance and mutual respect.

ATHLETES FACE BUSY PROGRAM THIS WEEK-END

A full schedule of events faces county schoolboy and independent athletes over the week-end.

Coach George Forney will take his Gettysburg high school track team to Mercersburg Friday afternoon for a dual meet with the Mercersburg academy jayvees. It will mark the opening of the season for the Maroons. On Wednesday the Maroons defeated Biglerville in a practice dual meet here.

The Gettysburg college baseball team resumes its schedule after the Easter recess by meeting Lehigh at Bethlehem Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. On Saturday Lafayette will be met at Easton.

The following County Scholastic Baseball league tilts are listed for Friday: Fairfield at Biglerville, East Berlin at New Oxford, York Springs at Arendtsville.

League To Open
On Saturday the Adams County Baseball league gets underway with the following schedule: Orrtanna at Emmitsburg; McSherrystown at Littlestown; Bonneauville at Fairfield; and Arendtsville at Bendersville. All games will be at 2:30 o'clock.

Also slated for Saturday is the Biglerville-Washington Township high school track meet on the latter's field. The Gettysburg college tennis team plays Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore Saturday.

28 SCHOOLBOY TEAMS ENTER COLLEGE MEET

Shippensburg, Pa., April 25—Twenty-eight high schools have entered the 20th annual District Interscholastic track and field meet to be held Saturday, May 4, here. Shippensburg State Teachers college officials disclosed.

The preliminary events of the all-day affair will start at 10 a. m. and the finals, 2 p. m. Edward Gullian, Shippensburg's track coach, is meet manager, while J. Seth Grove, college athletic adviser, is in charge of classification. Clarence Beck, Harrisburg, will be official starter and referee.

Of the 28 entries 11 are Class A schools—Carson Long Institute, Carlisle, Chambersburg, Gettysburg, Harrisburg Catholic, Hanover, Juniata, Red Lion, Swatara Township, Tyrone and West York. They will compete in 12 events—100 and 220-yard dashes, 880-yard and mile runs, 110-yard low hurdles, pole vault, broad jump, high jump, javelin, shot put, discus and mile relay.

Canners Entered
Class B entries include Bedford, Bellwood-Antis, Biglerville, Hummelstown, Lower Paxton, McConellsburg, Newport, Roaring Springs, Scotland Orphans' school, St. Thomas, Susquehanna Township, Thompsonstown, Warfordsburg and Washington Township. Class B's program of events, with the exception of the pole vault, will be the same as Class A's.

With such a large list of entries, the creation of several meet records is expected. The present meet marks are:

Class A—Shot put, 48 ft., 3 1/2 ins.; broad jump, 20 ft., 4 1/2 ins.; high jump, 5 ft., 11 ins.; discus, 128 ft.; 4 1/2 ins.; javelin, 174 ft., 8 1/2 ins.; pole vault, 10 ft., 5 1/2 ins.; 100-yard dash, 10.2 secs.; 220-yard dash, 23 secs.; 880-yard run, 2 mins., 2.8 secs.; mile run, 4 mins., 43.3 secs.; 110-yard low hurdles, 13 secs.; mile relay, 3 mins., 38.8 secs.

Class B—Shot put, 44 ft., 9 1/2 ins.; broad jump, 20 ft., 4 ins.; high jump, 5 ft., 9 1/2 ins.; discus, 134 ft., 9 ins.; javelin, 167 ft., 9 ins.; 100-yard dash, 10.4 secs.; 220-yard dash, 23 secs.; 880-yard run, 2 mins., 8.3 secs.; mile run, 4 mins., 54.3 secs.; 110-yard low hurdles, 12.7 secs.; mile relay, 3 mins., 42.9 secs.

Stranahan Favored To Win At Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., April 25 (AP)—Frank Stranahan, the youthful Toledo, Ohio, golfer who lifted the Durham open title last fall from some of the best pros in the country, was an odds-on favorite today to take the 46th annual North and South amateur championship.

With the field narrowed to four for today's semi-final round, young Stranahan was still the hottest striker in the tourney.

After three rounds of qualifying medal and match play over Pinehurst's 6,879 yard 72 championship layout, his highest score was yesterday's three under par 69—more than ample for a 5 and 4 victory over Milton B. Reach, of Springfield, Mass.

HUB FIVE TO BOWL
Buffalo, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—The Hub five of Steubenville, Ohio, paced by Phil Icuss, 1939 double champion, will be in the spotlight tonight in the American Bowling Congress' championship tournament. Icuss paired with Murray Fowler to win the 1939 two-man title in Cleveland with a score of 1405.

New Circuit Starts As Middle Atlantic

Johnstown, Pa., April 25 (AP)—With the rejuvenated Middle Atlantic only one of its clubs surviving from the last season of operation, 1942, League will bring organized baseball back to six Pennsylvania-Ohio-New York towns May 7, when President Elmer M. Daily's circuit will swing back into action after a wartime lapse.

Erie is the sole survivor from 1942, although Johnstown, Oil City and Butler also were in professional baseball in the Penn State Association until 1942. When the Penn State finally decided to disband, those three towns joined with Erie, Youngstown, O., and Niagara Falls, N. Y., to form the new circuit under the old Middle Atlantic name.

Elmer Daily is starting his 20th year as president of the Middle Atlantic loop, a term of service unequalled by any other present minor league executive. Russell Hockenberry, Mid-Atlantic loop secretary, assumed that post a year after Daily was named president and has held it ever since.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., April 25—(AP)—You'd hardly expect to find a heavyweight fighter's training camp in this semi-secluded spot that is liable to be overrun with kids or holiday seekers from Manhattan at any given moment.

But Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight champion, and his manager, Tom Hurst, can scatter original ideas about training around as freely as they scatter their "hatches" and maybe this is one of them.

Woodcock does his heavy training about 5 p. m., instead of several hours earlier as most boxers do. He got the habit during the war when he was working in a factory and couldn't train earlier and now Hurst doesn't see any reason for altering that routine. "And I'll tell you what," Tom adds, "If we stay around here during the summer I'll have him train at night. There's no use using up his energy during the hottest part of the day."

HIGH FLIER

Woodcock not only is the first British heavyweight to invade these shores since Tommy Farr came over in 1938, but he's the first who ever flew across the ocean to fight. Hurst is enthusiastic over the results. "It only took us nine hours," he says. "On a boat it would take five days and then the boy would need a week more to get rid of his sea legs. That might not seem very important, but when a fighter counts on putting his foot on a certain place on the floor in making a punch and then finds the floor isn't there, it's disconcerting."

GETTING AHEAD

The Yankees' Larry MacPhail claims that if he hadn't been a duck hunter, Ed Head might have pitched that no-hit game for the Dodgers. Seems Larry went duck hunting in Louisiana when he was Dodgers' boss a few years ago and became acquainted with the president of the Abbeville Evangeline league club. Later the Abbeville man called to offer him first crack at a kid pitcher who had compiled an amazing record so Larry bought Head for $3,500 and a couple of cast-off players. "The fellow nearly oversold himself," says Larry, "when he told me Head could pitch left-handed as well as right handed."

DOT'S ALL, BROTHERS

Greenville, S. C., Friends of shoeless Joe Jackson contemplate an appeal to Commissioner Happy Chandler to reinstate Joe in the good graces of organized baseball. Jackson, nearly 58 years old, maintains he was innocent of any wrongdoing in the 1919 Black Sox affair. Davey O'Brien may leave the FBI flat next fall to return to pro football, but he won't be back with his old club, Philadelphia.

Hogan Says Golf Must Lure Youth

Hershey, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Professional golf must find a way to lure younger players into the game or face the loss of its present popularity, Ben Hogan, the nation's leading money winner in pro golf ranks this year, declared today.

Hogan, home for a short rest, said "there are not enough young players coming to the front in recent years. Sooner or later the present leaders will fade and there will be nobody to replace them."

He declared the war was largely responsible for the present lack of interest displayed in golf by America's teen-agers, pointing out many promising stars were forced to give up golf when called into service while others were handicapped by a scarcity of golf supplies.

"Now is the time to start building for the future," asserted the Hershey country club pro. "The work must start in our high schools, and out on our golf links," adding that the pro golfers must do their part to keep the game going.

HAYES' STREAK ENDS; YANKEES DEFEAT BOSTON

By JOE REICHLER

(AP Sports Writer)

Unless all signs fail, young John Sherman Lollar, Cleveland's rookie backstop appears headed for major league stardom. Lollar was the big reason for Manager Lou Boudreau's decision to rest Frankie Hayes after the veteran catcher had extended his record-breaking consecutive game streak to 312.

The soft-spoken 21-year-old native of Fayetteville, Ark., in his first starting role with the Indians, doubled with the bases loaded yesterday highlighting a five-run eighth inning rally which gave the Tribe a 5-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Yankees moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American league by whipping the Boston Red Sox 12-5 with a 15-hit attack against five Sox hurlers. Tex Hughson and Ted Williams, a pair of Hub favorites, disappointed a near record crowd of 30,028 who saw the Sox drop from first to third place.

Boo Williams

Hughson, seeking his third straight triumph, failed to last five innings and was charged with the defeat. Williams was roundly booed when he grounded into three successive double plays after polling a 400-foot triple in the fourth inning.

Brooklyn and the St. Louis Cardinals continued their merry battle for first place in the National league as each team won its seventh straight after bowing in the season's opener. The Dodgers routed the Philadelphia Phils, 11-3, for their 12th consecutive win in Shibe Park.

The Redbirds won their second straight 3-2 game from the Cincinnati Reds, with Stan Musial again driving in the winning run. Southpaw Howie Pollet, although tagged for nine safe blows, was credited with his second victory of the season.

Sewell Wins

Truett (Rip) Sewell, an old nemesis of the Chicago Cubs, tamed the Bruins again with a nine-hitter in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 decision over the National league champions. It was Sewell himself who batted in the winning run when his eighth inning single broke a 3-3 deadlock.

Boston's Braves rebounded from their hitless efforts against Brooklyn Ed Head on Tuesday by raking five New York Giants hurlers for 14 hits including successive home runs by Tommy Holmes and Ray Sanders, to outslug the Polo Grounders 10-7.

Held scoreless for seven rounds, Washington's Senators rallied for four runs in their half of the eighth to overcome a 1-0 and defeat the Philadelphia Athletics 4-2.

IMPROVED STEEL

Latrobe, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Development of a new process to improve the quality of high speed steel was disclosed yesterday by the Latrobe Electric Steel Co. The firm said its new method, called the desegregating process, provides more even distribution of free carbide, elimination of grouping by carbide particles and produces steel with better results under heat treatment, with longer tool life and longer runs between grinds.

PAY AND BONUS

Pittsburgh, April 25 (AP)—Adjustments on the incentive pay system and the day workers' bonus were reported the chief issues still occupying contract negotiations today between the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine workers.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

BEGINS

2 A.M. SUNDAY, APRIL 28

In view of the fact that the majority of Gettysburg's industries and all of the churches have adopted Daylight Saving Time for the period beginning at 2 a. m. Sunday, April 28 and extending until 2 a. m. Sunday, September 29, the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce hereby authorizes and recommends the town-wide adoption of

The Chamber of Commerce, as Gettysburg's official civic organization, representing the business, industrial and civic life of the community, takes this action upon recommendation of the majority of business interests of the community who have expressed their preference for the adoption of Daylight Saving Time during the forthcoming five month period.

The Chamber of Commerce expresses its appreciation to its members for their cooperation in the recent survey of public opinion relative to Daylight Saving Time, which resulted in an overwhelming expression in favor of adoption of the new time for this year.

Move your clocks and watches ahead one hour when you retire Saturday evening, April 27 and you will then be in keeping with Daylight Saving Time for the next five months

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

HOUSE COMMITTEE
Of all the tasks which men assume,
For love of power or fleeting glory,
Which add to mortal's natural gloom
And early turn their temples hoary,
The one most thankless, seems to me,
From January through December,
Is voluntarily to be
An earnest house committee member.

No poet that he can ever take
So soon the proudest man will humble.
His friends at him their heads will shake
And openly his foes will grumble.
"Too small the ice cubes!" some will say.
"Too thin, the chef, the butter slices!"
He serves the same stuff every day!
And much too high are all the prices!"

His fellow members sit in groups!
They swear the roast beef cuts grow thinner.
All other clubs serve richer soups
And better is their dollar dinner.
Yet men are found, from year to year,
Though there is none to praise or pity,
To brave the hazardous career
Of serving on the house committee.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHY NOT?
With blackness of outlook covering the very heavens of the automobile industry, a representative of the labor forces called up an important official of the Ford Motor Company, and said: "Let's settle this right away!" And the reply of the Ford man was: "Why not?" That was all—as simple as that—and the strike with this company was at an end.

All strikes could be settled in this manner, if only management and labor would take this long view at attitude. Why shouldn't both work harmoniously together? Why shouldn't both sides be fair and just? Why shouldn't nations work in the same way—settling all differences over the conference table, giving as much as they take, and in a spirit of co-operation? It's about time that people began to work together, as one whole, rather than in secluded cliques, that only cause trouble, filling the very atmosphere of life with grave fears.

This can be made into a "better world". There will always be differences among individuals, as well as nations, but they can be settled justly—and why not? There is a great deal to be learned from watching a horse race. At the starting stalls I have noted a race delayed for several minutes for no other reason than that one horse would not line up promptly with the others, but pranced around, in and out, rearing and unwilling to take its place with the other contestants. But, finally, when the race is on I have noted that almost always that prancing horse isn't to be seen among the first winners!

Both time, energy and profits, are wasted in needless bickering over non-essentials. It's economy and common sense to look a problem fully in the face, and say: "Let's settle this right away." Why not? Delays are dangerous, and in the end, almost always destructive. There never has been a war that couldn't have been settled peacefully, before the firing of a gun! Some day this world is going to come of age—and realize this fact. When differences arrive, instead of adding fuel to the flame—and perhaps causing a holocaust—why not settle it all amicably, and then shake hands? Simple, yet fundamental, both for the individual and the nation—and for the world at large!

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO

1,200 At Opening of New Auditorium: Twelve hundred persons, many from nearby towns, attended the opening services at Gettysburg's new auditorium, Fourth and Hanover street, Sunday. The large hall was formally dedicated Sunday afternoon with more than 700 persons present.

The Rev. John A. Tabor, well known evangelist of Dallas, Texas, preached at both the afternoon and evening services Sunday. He was assisted at the dedicatory service by the Rev. Mr. Kohler, Thurmont; the Rev. L. B. Hafer, the Rev. W. C. Robinson and the Rev. F. L. Stine, Gettysburg.

Mrs. A. Z. Rogers, York street, was the pianist for the services.

Ruel Rice to Wed Miss Smith, York: Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dale Smith, of York, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edna Grace Smith, to Ruel K. G. Rice, son of Rev. S. L. Rice, Steinwehr avenue, Gettysburg.

Local Man Heads Hanover School: Fred G. Troxell, teacher of mathematics in the Hanover High School for several years, was elected principal of the high school at a special meeting of the Hanover school board Tuesday evening.

Mr. Troxell, a native of Gettysburg, was chosen at a salary of $2,500 for the new position.

All Rome Pays Homage To Head: Rome, April 21—The seven hills overlooking the Tiber, where 2,680 years ago was founded the city which was to become mistress of the world, will add another page to their imperial history today when a million Italians celebrate the birthday of ancient Rome by pledging allegiance to Benito Mussolini as "Caesar of the modern empire."

Madelyn Culp Leads Chorus: Among the novelty choruses to be introduced in the forthcoming Odd Fellows production "Minstrel Echoes," at the Majestic Theatre, April 28, is the "Chocolate Dandy" chorus, which comprises Misses Dorothy Gilbert, Hilda Welkert, Martha Eden, Sarah Sheads, Lottie Klinefelter, Sarah Galbraith, Christine Eberhart, Dorothy Pitzer and Katharine Plank.

The chorus is led by Miss Madelyn Culp, who takes the role of "Jazzmine Jackson," owner of the famous steed "Bullet." This chorus will present a series of Charleston steps.

Building Bought by Cafe Owners: Announcement has been made of the sale by Jacob Stock, North Washington street, of the American restaurant property, Chambersburg street, to Crist Mitchell and Steven Svarnas, proprietors of the eating place. The consideration is said to have been $28,000, a record price.

Home from Convention: M. E. Knouse, Brysonia, president of the Adams County Sunday School Association; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Miller, York street, and their daughter, Mrs. W. R. Sammel, of Lititz, have returned from Birmingham, Alabama, where they attended the International Sunday School convention.

Officers Attend Phila. Banquet: First Lieutenant William G. Weaver and Second Lieutenant George W. Biehn, accompanied by Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Boehner, have gone to Philadelphia, where on Saturday evening the two officers attended the annual banquet of the 79th division.

Bender Forced Out of Relays: "Piney" Bender, Gettysburg's contribution to the Penn-Relay Decathlon, was forced out of the battle, after three events on Franklin Field today, suffering from injuries to his back, a year old ailment, induced at the last Penn relays.

Organist Gives Fine Concert: An appreciative audience at St. Jam's Lutheran church, last evening, heard Henry M. Seibert, American concert organist, of New York city give a recital on the new organ of the church.

Girls Give Operetta: "Heartless Home," an operetta in three acts, was presented last evening at Brna Chapel by the girls' glee club of Gettysburg college.

New Lodge Room Here Initiated: One hundred and fifty men and women, members of the Ancient Order, Knights of the Mystic Chain, and Jennie Wade assembly, Degree of Naomi, attended a house warming in the new lodge room of the two organizations on the third floor of the McPherson building, Wednesday evening, J. Calvin Nau, of East Middle street, was master of ceremonies.

After the entertainment, refreshments were served.

Personal: Mrs. John Lippy and Mrs. Walter Danforth have returned from Washington, D. C., where they attended the annual convention of the National D.A.R.

RESUME DEBATE ON SPAIN IN U.N. COUNCIL TODAY

New York, April 25 (AP)—The World Security Council on this first anniversary of the United Nations' San Francisco organizational meeting today was shaping a policy on how far afield it may go to detect and suppress any alleged plot to breach of peace.

A far-reaching plan of inquiry has been urged by Australia in her generally well-received proposal that the council investigate Franco Spain fully before voting on Poland's motion for a collective U. N. diplomatic break with that excluded, non-member nation.

Poland has charged that the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco shelters fugitive Nazi war-plotters and scientists who may be conducting researches in atomic energy; menaces the French frontier with a massing of troops and is a potential hotbed for a new war.

Believe Plan Acceptable: Although prolonged discussion on the methods of investigation was anticipated when the council meets at 3 p. m., EST, there were indications that the Australian plan would be acceptable in some form. Adoption would broaden the council's scope and open the way for detailed inquiry into the affairs of Spain or any suspect nation.

It has been discussed widely among the delegations in private with indications of gathering support and it now for the first time finds the Big Three apparently in agreement on principle.

In calling for a five-member council subcommittee investigation of Spain and a report returnable May 17, Australian Delegate W. R. Hodgson's amendment reprieved the Polish motion from certain defeat last week.

Poland needed seven of the 11 council votes but at that time Polish Delegate Oscar Lange had only the support of Russia, France and Mexico plus the extramural backing of the Spanish Republican leadership exiled in Paris.

NEARBY PARK TO OPEN SOON

Natural Springs park, a mile east of Gettysburg on the Lincoln highway, is being remodeled, repaired and renovated and new attractions added, and will be open to the public, its new owners expect, by Memorial Day.

The property, formerly owned by John Shultz, New Chester, was purchased last fall by Stewart Wachter, Sr., and his son, Stewart Wachter, Jr., of Gettysburg, formerly of Allentown. The park has been closed for the past seven years, Mr. Wachter said. The Wachters operated Victory park at Chambersburg for the past three years.

The Natural Springs park consists of a 12-acre grove and spring, and for many years was the scene of picnics, dances, boring shows and other events.

Plan New Rides: Under the new ownership, buildings will be repaired, the dance floor resurfaced and new rides, picnic and restaurant facilities and free entertainment provided. Rides will consist, Mr. Wachter said, of a ferris Chambersburg street, attended the matinee performance of "No, No Nannette" in Harrisburg Saturday afternoon.

Miss Sara Galbraith, West Middle street, and Harold Cromwell, spent Sunday in Chambersburg.

Donald Shears, Buford avenue, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is convalescing.

Miss June Bigham, who has been ill with grip for a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gray Bigham, Biglerville, left Monday to resume her studies at Irving College, Mechanicsburg.

John W. Spangler entertained a dozen friends at dinner at his home on Chambersburg street Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Herbert L. Grimm entertained a company of little tots Wednesday afternoon at her home, Times apartments, in celebration of the fifth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Lucille.

A new skating rink and swimming pool will be built as soon as materials become available. Mr. Wachter said no intoxicating beverages will be sold or allowed on the grounds. A restaurant will be operated. There will be picnic tables and fireplaces. The park will cater to church, Sunday school, clubs and outdoor outings, Mr. Wachter said.

The park is located on the site of the Letterman field hospital established at the time of the battle of Gettysburg. An historical marker points out the site. Cottages on the property are being repaired and remodeled, and Mr. Wachter and his son, and their families, will reside there. The latter will operate six days a week.

CIO WILL TAKE ACTIVE PART IN FALL ELECTION

Harrisburg, April 25 (AP)—The Political Action Committee of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO), will take a "very active" part in the 1946 election campaign, State CIO President John A. Phillips indicated today.

The Pennsylvania CIO has set aside a full day of its convention program at Pittsburgh, Friday, May 3, for consideration of the PAC program and undoubtedly will take action on Congressional contests in the Keystone state, Phillips said.

The state PAC, organized originally in 1944 as the political affiliate of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council, is headed by Harry Boyer, Reading, secretary of the CIO council. It has continued to function since the 1944 Presidential election, but took no part in the 1945 state-wide election.

To Pick Candidates: The CIO convention at Pittsburgh will endorse candidates, particularly in the Congressional "fight," a CIO spokesman predicted. "The PAC will carry on from there."

The convention program, which opens April 30, will include speeches by Philip Murray, national CIO president; Allan Haywood, of Washington, head of the CIO organization department; and James B.

Governor Speaks To Methodist Body

Alltoona, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Governor Edward Martin told the Central Pennsylvania Conference of Methodist Churches here last night that "if we are to have good, clean, economic government, the membership of the church must serve as our civic backbone."

Martin asserted "politics and government have a great common aim with science of theology" and continued:

"While we praise American free enterprise with our lips, we stand by while industry tries to kill competition; labor preaches freedom of action but does not practice what it preaches; agriculture believes in independence yet reaches its hand into the pocket of government for more and more subsidies."

The 550 delegates from the Sunbury, Williamsport and Harrisburg district named the Rev. Harry F. Babcock of Altoona as superintendent.

Carey, Washington, national CIO secretary.

Fire Fighters Find Man's Charred Body

Alltoona, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Forest fire fighters battling flames in an orchard yesterday found the badly-burned body of the owner, John H. Friday, 69, of Tyrone R. D.

Dr. Daniel Replogie, Blair county coroner, said death may have been caused by a heart attack, to which Friday had been subject, or may have resulted from burns.

Friday had been burning tent caterpillars from fruit trees with a blow torch when underbrush at the edge of the orchard caught fire. Four

Crouse, member of the firm of I. H. Crouse & Sons for a continuation of Prince street it was revealed during the discussion on extending the water main from Newark street via Prince street extended.

Water permits were issued to Maurice W. Feaser, Lumber street; W. A. Lippy, Patrick avenue, and I. H. Crouse and sons for six dwellings, council was informed.

I. H. Crouse and Sons, Lumber street, are planning to construct six Cape Cod style dwellings on the south side of Lumber street, according to building permits granted by the borough.

Other permits disclosed that the Littlestown canning company is planning to construct a two story cement block, asphalt or composition roof, structure on the south side of Lumber street.

Permits for such work as building signs, painting and other minor changes were granted to Charles A. Hofe, East King street, for repairing the roof of the home of Mrs. Sarah Bittinger, 525 South Queen street; Charles A. Hofe for the repairing of the roof of the dwelling of Richard Long, 241 M street; Bernice S. Mummert, East King street, for erecting a display sign; John N. Sell, 26 East King street, for painting and repair work; Earl C. Feaser, 10-12 West King street, for painting and adding a fire escape; Luther A. Spangler, Gettysburg R. 1, to paint a dwelling and barn roof for W. H. Bish, East King street; Luther A. Spangler and son, Gettysburg R. 1, to paint the implement establishment of Erwin A. Rebert, M street; Mrs. Esther K. B. Robertson, Westminster, to construct cement steps at a dwelling at 529 South Queen street; Robert C. Good, for repairing a roof at 69 Crouse Park.

Secretary Keefe was authorized to secure additional men for municipal work after it had been reported that the street commissioner Harry C. Shadle was ill.

The council agreed to meet on Locust street and Maple avenue Monday, April 29 at 6:30 p. m. to discuss the possibility of widening and opening Locust street from Maple avenue to Park avenue. Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner will be called to attend the meeting, council decided.

The John W. Ocker grant of the American Legion was granted the use of the playground to hold a carnival on July 4, 5 and 6.

The building committee was appointed to investigate the various types of furnaces and their cost with the idea of purchasing a new furnace for the Alpha Fire house. The committee was instructed to report on its findings next month. George E. Halter, janitor at the Alpha fire house was voted $15 additional for his added duties of taking care of the fires at the Community Youth center.

Council agreed that since the borough owns the Alpha Fire engine house it should have full authority for allowing any other organization to utilize the engine house. However, council agreed that no meeting of any other organization which would conflict with the activities of the firemen would be permitted. The discussion brought out that the trustees of the Alpha Fire company are to see after the equipment and the building needs or whatever equipment is necessary for the proper functioning of the fire company and are to report to the council after their reports have been submitted to the fire company.

Expenditures of $813.04 for the borough and $3,695 from the water fund were approved by council.

The next meeting of council will be held Friday, April 26 when the group will meet with the Littlestown Borough Authority board.

Col. Rice

cently at Tionesta, outlined an eight-point program to save the government," Senator Dent said. "He has had four years to do it as governor. If he couldn't do it then, how can he do it as Senator?"

It was announced that Sgt. Al Schmid, candidate for the Democratic nomination for secretary of internal affairs was in Hollywood, and unable to be present.

Mr. Brehm, candidate for Congress, declared that he believed his record in civic and public trusts made him well and favorably known to Adams county voters. "I believe I have left the largest balance our county has ever had," he asserted. "In looking over the records of our county, I believe the taxpayer and the individual has been given the opportunity to pay his debts, and this has been made possible by our government."

The Democratic candidate for assembly, Mr. Lucabaugh, said he felt it was a great honor to "have my name placed alongside such fine men as Rice and Brehm. I wish to thank everyone who helped make this possible, and I promise you I will fulfill to the best of my abilities the duties of the office if elected."

Lands Guffy

Mr. Brannan declared that his father came from Pennsylvania and he was glad to return here.

"The name of Joe Guffy is on the lips and in the minds of the coal miners of Colorado as much as those of Pennsylvania," he declared. "The farmers of Colorado know Guffy for the work he has done in their behalf. The common people of Colorado know Guffy."

Asserting that "We are on the threshold of an important campaign," Mr. Brannan said that "This is the year of decision. Whether we have years of peace depends on your votes. We won a great war under great leadership. We can't now afford to lose the peace."

Prices and Jobs

Mr. Brannan declared that prices and jobs were the two great issues, with prices the immediate problem. "If the Republicans are placed in power in November, we won't have on OPA. Inflation and then chaos are weighing in the balance as you go to the polls."

Mr. Brannan said secondly that it was necessary to keep the high level of employment.

"If we get the people to the polls, we have the election in the bag," he continued. "The outlook is very hopeful if we don't get too optimistic and fall to work."

Wednesday evening's dinner was opened with the invocation by Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, followed by the singing of America. Miss Sara Jane Sheffer, accompanied by Miss Jeanne A. Spangler, sang two solo numbers, "Land of Hope and Glory," and an old English ballad, "When Love Is Kind."

Among the guests introduced were Judge W. C. Sheely, Adams and Fulton counties; Ramsey, S. Black, state treasurer; Judge Harvey Gross, York county; Genevieve Black, chairman of the Young Democratic club; Carl Kane, retiring Adams county Democratic committee chairman; Fred Kluck, state committeeman, District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., county Commissioner Quentin D. Rebert, Mrs. Laura Cratin, McSherrystown, chairman of the Women's Democratic club and many office holders and party leaders from Adams, York and Franklin counties.

The program closed with the singing of "God Bless America," and the benediction by Dr. Hoover.

BYRNES OFFERS PLAN TO JUNK EUROPE TARIFFS

Washington, April 25 (AP)—A proposal that all European countries junk their tariffs in a bid to speed economic recovery of the continent has been drafted for Secretary of State Byrnes to lay before his Paris colleagues.

The free trade arrangement would extend over a five-year period.

Officials said the proposal is part of an overall plan which Byrnes took to Paris with him for today's opening of the Foreign Ministers' conference designed to break the big-power deadlock over European peace settlements.

The plan, however, has divided the secretary's advisers. In support of it are said to be Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, Counselor Benjamin Cohen and Assistant Secretary Will Clayton.

Those described as opposed include Assistant Secretary James Dunn and Freeman Matthews, chief of the department's Office of European Affairs. These two and Cohen are in Paris with Byrnes.

The heart of the proposal is that a United Nations regional office be opened at Geneva to tackle European economic problems on a continent-wide basis instead of according to national political boundaries or the geography of river valleys and port locations.

Sub-agencies would handle (1) fuel and power, (2) trade and industry, (3) transport of all sorts, and (4) food.

According to persons familiar with the plan but who may not be further identified, its actual introduction will depend on whether other and more established means of breaking the peace treaty deadlock are successful.

This deadlock chiefly involves Russia on the one hand and the United States and Britain on the other.

These persons maintain that the present policies on both sides are leading inevitably toward European spheres of influence which they claim would give Russia the complete domination of eastern Europe she seems to be seeking.

The only alternative, Byrnes has been urged, is to tackle European problems on a continent-wide basis.

One of the main specific provisions of the plan is that in order to facilitate the reconstruction of Europe and the revival of commerce and trade, tariff barriers should be removed and an absolutely free flow of goods permitted. Exponents of this idea say they doubt that Europe ever again would impose tariffs if they could once be removed.

Lewis Declares Soft Coal Strike Will Continue Until Demands Are Met

SHRINKING COAL RESERVES MAY CUT OFF STEEL

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Hazleton, Pa., April 25 (AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the AFL United Mine Workers, insists the 400,000 striking bituminous workers will continue their strike—outlasting the mine operators—until contract demands are met.

"It may be a week, a month or even six weeks," Lewis told the opening session of the anthracite tri-district scale convention yesterday, "but operations in the bituminous industry will continue to be stopped. Who can operate mines without miners?"

Meantime, spokesmen for steel firms in Pittsburgh reported that the rapidly shrinking coal reserves threatened complete shutdown of many industrial plants unless the miners return to the pits.

Blames U. S. Steel

The bushy-browed UMW chieftain blamed the United States Steel Corporation particularly for continuance of the soft coal walkout and asserted that firm is not far from "acutely distressing the economic situation in America."

Lewis, citing the "no contract, no work" policy of the UMW, bluntly declared that negotiations—suspended two weeks ago—will remain deadlocked until the operators decide to renew parleys on the miners' principal demand—establishment of a health and welfare fund to be financed by the industry.

Lewis did not hedge in pointing his finger at U. S. Steel as the cause of the current deadlock in negotiations.

"This huge corporation—a state within a state—is holding the line against the UMW on any agreement on mine safety and human welfare and no ordinary coal producer dares defy it to settle the stoppage," he declared.

"Wear on Humans"

Spokesmen for U. S. Steel, which operates a number of bituminous mines—the so-called "captive mines"—had no immediate comment.

Approximately 450 delegates, representing 75,000 hard coal miners from districts 1, 7 and 9, saw Lewis wave a copy of U. S. Steel's 1945 report and then shout:

"This report shows U. S. Steel charged off $123,000,000 last year for wear and exhaustion of plant facilities. Does it have any more right to deny a health and welfare fund for similar wear and exhaustion of humans?"

Allege High Profits

Lewis asserted he was informed by a "high government official" that efforts are being made to bring U. S. Steel President Benjamin Fairless into the soft coal negotiations. He added, however, that Fairless had "not arrived as yet."

In Washington, a government labor official who declined use of his name said that efforts were being made to bring Fairless into the coal picture along with other top industrialists who might influence the contract talks.

Turning to the anthracite situation, Lewis reported the operators have maximum production, reasonably low costs and high margins of profit but that they dislike the idea the hard coal miners want "a living wage."

Anthracite Contract Ends May 31

Wage demands, he asserted, do not send prices up and cause inroads on coal markets by other fuels. Actually, "freight costs, high royalties, high executive salaries and multiplicity of sales organizations are responsible," he said.

Lewis hinted that contract proposals for the anthracite industry—when negotiations begin in New York about May 10—will be the same sought in the bituminous field.

The anthracite miners will get new concessions, Lewis predicted, "because I'm hopeful negotiations this year will be fruitful if the operators do not assume the same attitude already taken by allied financial interests in the bituminous industry."

The current anthracite contract expires May 31. Delegates are empowered to file a strike notice under the Smith-Connally act if they deem it necessary.

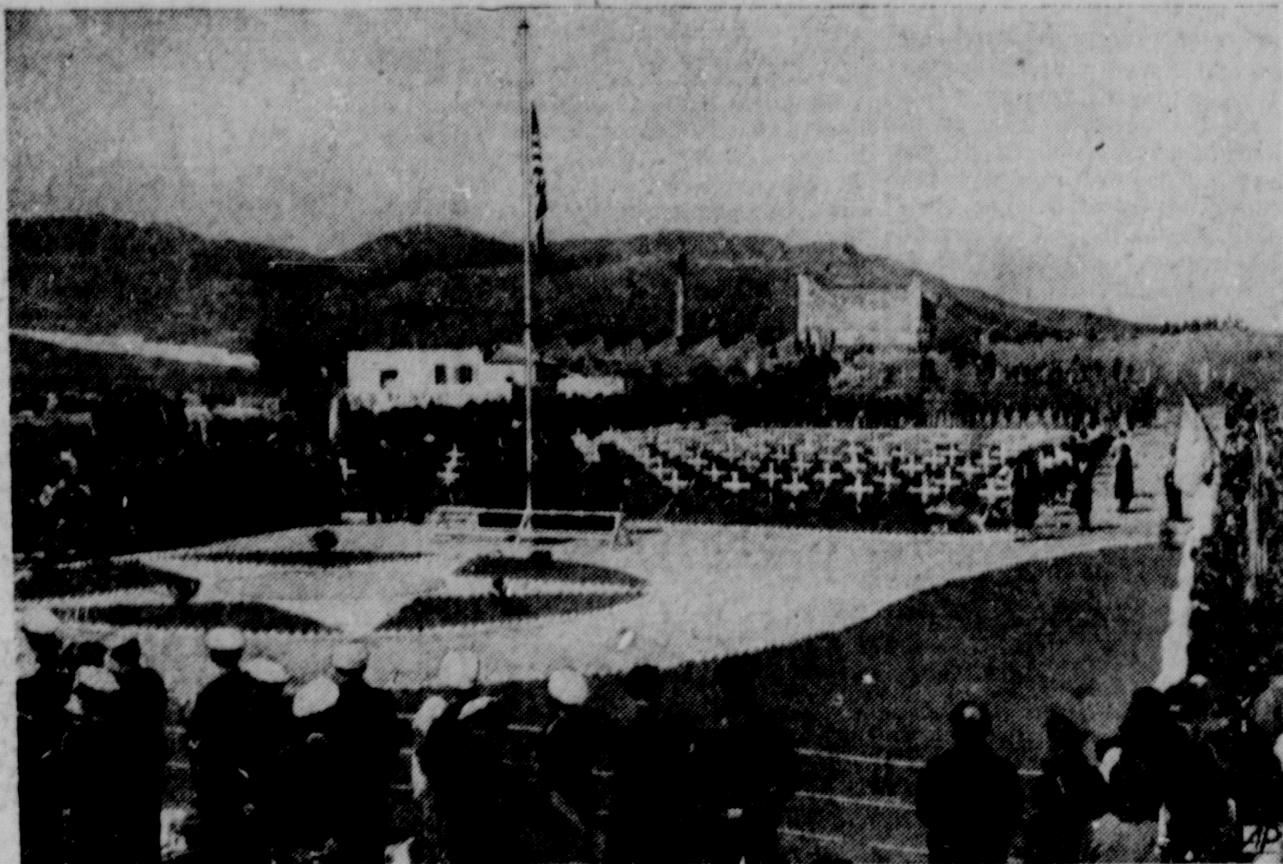

TRANSFER PATIENTS

Butler, Pa., April 25 (AP)—The last 194 army patients, including 27 litter cases, will be evacuated Thursday from Deshon General hospital, preparatory to army abandonment of the institution April 30. A Baltimore and Ohio hospital train will take the veterans to Halloran General hospital, near New York.

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—An impatient Buffalo motorist who thought a freight train was passing a crossing too slowly, pulled a coupling lever, "breaking" the train into two sections.

He was fined $150 after being hauled in by police.

Water is lighter in the solid, or ice state, than it is in its liquid state.

U. S. MILITARY CEMETERY—Dedication ceremonies are held at an American military cemetery near Athens, Greece. U. S. airmen are among those buried here.

Letter to the Editor

Gettysburg, Pa.
April 23, 1946

Dear Mr. Editor:

Would appreciate your printing the following opinion on the Office of Price Administration.

In The Gettysburg Times of Saturday evening, April 20, 1946 appeared a column with the following headlines, "Congressman Says District is Against OPA." The congressman told the House of Representatives that residents of Adams, York and Franklin counties are definitely opposed to the continuation of the Office of Price Administration; thus I must vote as the people wish—I must vote to discontinue the OPA.

The decision our representative made was undoubtedly influenced by the nine letters, cards, and telegrams he received from citizens of the three counties he represents along with a conversation he held with some implement dealers and their wives whom he also represents. The conversation and the communications, the representative received where all of the same opinion. "Kill the OPA."

Our congressman states that he received no mail today (perhaps he meant Sunday) from anyone defending the OPA and at the same time says, "I am not telling you everyone is against the OPA." Just what is our representative telling us? Let's look at the mail he received.

The first telegram from a prominent farmer who says, "I want to say that I am definitely opposed to the OPA." Does he say why or does he just make a statement?

The second, a letter from a prominent minister. I know the minister has not been quoted as saying to his congregation that he is opposed to the OPA, but is quoted as writing his protest to his congressman. But if a minister feels so deeply for his people, and in his God-fearing heart knows that the people are being wronged by the OPA; then why does he not tell the truth to his congregation and say to his people from the pulpit, the same words he wrote to his congressman, "Kill the OPA, give back to the people their God given rights," or would the minister be afraid that there are too many people of the opposition opinion?

The next is a card and is also a "dilly." It is from a disgusted voter who can't buy any clothes for her veteran husband and therefore is opposed to the OPA. My opinion is, "Kill the OPA and your husband can wear a handkerchief and a necktie—if he has enough money left to buy them after he pays the rent!"

Another card from a serviceman's wife—she wants her congressman to send her a barrel, as she has no clothes because of the OPA.

P. S. If the OPA is killed she won't even have the barrel!

Here is another man who built several hundred houses. I repeat several hundred houses in the last few years. He wants to build homes if the OPA will let him. How much do you think the rent charged for the new houses as well as the old houses would be if the OPA would let him? You guess, Mr. Citizen you'd have to pay it!

Another letter from a prosperous farmer in the congressman's district. This man says "If we farmers must compete on a price control basis as it is, we will become bankrupt and wholly regimented." Does this farmer speak for himself or for all farmers? Tell me that red blooded American farmer wants to charge the city dwelling people $2 for a pound of butter and then go to a clothing store and be forced to pay $15 for a $2 shirt. Who gains, the working man, the farmer, the average citizen or a few special groups?

Since our honorable congressman has taken the privilege of representing me along with the majority of the citizens of his district and voted against the OPA because of the opinion of a few people from whom he received cards and letters, (approximately nine, unless there are others too numerous to mention—and according to our representative none of these being for the OPA.) I take this privilege of an American Citizen to say, "Kill the OPA. Mr. Congressman, base your decision on a few special letters, disregard the majority of the people. I'm sure as you have indicated in your recent article that each and every citizen of York, Adams and

Franklin counties are definitely opposed to the OPA—just ask them. When the farmer who wears a $2 shirt that cost $15 and the working man who pays $2 for a pound of butter goes to the polls at election time—remember Mr. Congressman, you voted to kill the OPA. Just another citizen and reader of The Gettysburg Times, James W. Tate.

Duff Says Shroyer Can't Keep Promises

Eric, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Attorney General James H. Duff, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, declared last night that one of his opponents, former State Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer, had been making campaign promises "which he knows full well cannot be carried out."

Duff did not enumerate the promises to which he referred but declared the people of Pennsylvania would "see that they have a state government alert to postwar needs and one which can carry out its campaign pledges."

Of the national picture, Duff asserted "confusion, instability and insecurity" had resulted from the federal government's failure to relinquish extraordinary wartime powers.

"What we have in America today is a pattern of centralized government control that constantly becomes more and more like that which led to disaster in Europe," declared Duff.

Duff did not enumerate the promises to which he referred but declared the people of Pennsylvania would "see that they have a state government alert to postwar needs and one which can carry out its campaign pledges."

Of the national picture, Duff asserted "confusion, instability and insecurity" had resulted from the federal government's failure to relinquish extraordinary wartime powers.

"What we have in America today is a pattern of centralized government control that constantly becomes more and more like that which led to disaster in Europe," declared Duff.

GOVERNMENT TO BUY BUTTER

Washington, Apr. 25 (P)—The government plans to re-enter the butter market about May 1 to buy 60,000,000 pounds to supply the armed services and military hospitals during the next 12 months.

To assure itself of this quantity, the government probably will require manufacturers to set aside a portion of their output during May and June when butter production normally reaches its peak for the year. By obtaining a year's needs in this period, the government thus eliminates itself as a competitor with civilians during low production periods.

But despite the government's plan to secure military needs during the flush production season, the outlook for civilian supplies of butter next fall and winter is not bright.

Total production is expected to fall below last year's level and below pre-war output. Consumer demand is at record levels. Because of this, it is quite likely that the great bulk, if not all, of the production of the heavy production season—May through July—will be consumed as rapidly as it is produced.

In normal times, the butter industry itself stores a part of the summer output for sale during the fall and winter season of low production. Prices usually are lowest during the peak production season and highest during the fall and winter.

Transport Crashes During Test Flight

Burbank, Calif., April 25 (P)—A Western Air Lines transport, on a test flight without passengers, crashed with an engine afire into a house Wednesday, killing its three crewmen.

Occupants of the house escaped injury. The residence, on busy Lankersham boulevard, was severely damaged by flames.

The crash occurred four miles from Lockheed air terminal, transcontinental terminal for major airlines serving the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

Western Air listed the plane's occupants as:

Wayne Fiedoroff, pilot, Burbank.

Marvin Schwartzbach, co-pilot, Roscoe, Calif.

Leon Turgeon, mechanic, Hollywood.

In ancient Egyptian court ceremonies only the Pharaoh wore shoes; princes appeared barefoot.

STUCK WITH THUS

Seattle (P)—Bill Lawrence was straining to open his paint-stuck hotel room window and when it popped open, Bill popped out, falling 30 feet to the sidewalk.

The only things hurt were his ankle—and his pride, as he reflected on how "the boys will sure rib me about this."

For by profession, Lawrence is a painter of high buildings.

Albany, N. Y. (P)—Nathan Solomon, Albany merchant, found 450 pairs of prewar women's silk hose in his shop. Anxious for fun, he set up a box on the sidewalk and remarked to the first woman who came by:

"Here you are, lady, three pairs of silk stockings for a dime."

"What do you think I am mister, a sucker?" was the retort.

MINERS GET NO PAY UNTIL MAY

Harrisburg, April 25 (P)—The state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation has ruled that the vast bulk of the 92,000 idle soft coal miners are ineligible for jobless benefits until May 4.

William H. Chesnut, secretary of Labor and Industry, disclosed that the bureau's director, Frank I. Shallow, held the miners are engaged in an industrial dispute and thus are subject to a five-week "penalty" period fixed by the state compensation law. Ordinarily, persons unemployed through no fault of their own receive benefits at the end of one week.

The ruling followed decisions of the bureau's director, Frank I. Shallow, in recent years. The UMW now is appealing from a bureau decision that both miners and supervisory employees were involved in a strike last fall and therefore were ineligible for benefits until the end of the legal disqualification period.

Miners, who have been idle since April 1, will be eligible for up to $20 a week if the mine shutdown continues until May 4.

Bismarck, N. D. (P)—The receptionist at the news room in the Bismarck Tribune tries to answer all the questions, even the silly ones. So her answer was a polite "no" to the two men who, after trudging up a long flight of stairs, asked: "Is this the basement?"

Chapter 20

The daylight had dawned upon the glades of the oak forest, when the outlaws, refreshed after a good night's rest, gathered to divide their spoils. These were indeed very large, notwithstanding that much had perished in the fire.

"Let us proceed," said Locksley; "for when this bold deed shall be sounded abroad, the bands of De Bracy, of Malvoisin, and other allies will be in motion against us, and it were well for our safety that we retreat from the vicinity—Noble Cedric," he said, turning to the Saxon, "that spoil is divided into two portions; do thou make choice of that which best suits thee, to recompense thy people who were partakers with us in this adventure."

"Good yeoman," said Cedric. "The Lady Rowena is desirous to return to Rotherwood, and must be escorted by a sufficient force. I should, therefore, ere now, have left this place; and I waited—not to share the booty, as neither I nor any of mine will touch the value of a liard,—I waited but to render my thanks to thee and to thy bold yeomen, for the life and honour ye have saved."

The tramp of horses were now heard, and the Lady Rowena appeared, surrounded by several riders, and a much stronger party of footmen, who joyfully shook their pikes and clashed their brown-bills for joy of her freedom.

As Rowena bent her steed towards Locksley's seat, that bold yeoman, with all his followers, rose to receive her, as if by a general instinct of courtesy. "God and Our Lady bless you and requite you for gallantly perilling yourselves in the cause of the oppressed!—If any of you should hunger, remember Rowena has food—if you should thirst, she has many a butt of wine and brown ale—and if the Normans drive ye from these walks, Rowena has forests of her own, where her gallant deliverers may range at full freedom, and never rarer ask whose arrow hath struck down the deer."

"Thanks, gentle lady," said Locksley; "thanks from my company and myself."

Cedric, ere they departed, expressed his peculiar gratitude to the Black Champion, and earnestly entreated him to accompany him to Rotherwood.

"Cedric has already made me rich," said the Knight,—"he has taught me the value of Saxon virtue. To Rotherwood will I come, brave Saxon, and that speedily; but, as now, pressing matters of moment detain me from your halls. Peradventure when I came hither, I will ask such a boon as will put even thy generosity to the test."

"It is granted ere spoken out," said Cedric, striking his ready hand.

into the gauntleted palm of the Black Knight—"It is granted already, were it to affect half my fortune."

"Gage not thy promise so lightly," said the Knight, "yet well I hope to gain the boon I shall ask. Meanwhile, adieu."

"Valiant knight," said Locksley to the Black Champion, "without whose good heart and mighty arm our enterprise must altogether have failed, will it please you to take from that mass of spoil whatever may best serve to pleasure you, and to remind you of this my trusting-tree?"

"I accept the offer," said the Knight, "as frankly as it is given; and I ask permission to dispose of Sir Maurice de Bracy at my own pleasure."

"He is thine already," said Locksley, "and, well for him! else the tyrant had graced the highest bough of this oak, with as many of his Free Companions as we could gather, hanging thick as acorns around him.—But he is thy prisoner, and he is safe, though he has slain my father."

"De Bracy," said the Knight, "thou art free—depart. He whose prisoner thou art scorns to take mean revenge for what is past. But beware of the future, lest a worse thing befall thee—Maurice de Bracy, I say beware!"

De Bracy bowed low and in silence caught a horse by the rein, threw himself upon the saddle, and galloped off through the wood.

When the bustle occasioned by this incident was somewhat composed, the chief outlaw took from his neck the rich horn and baldric and said:

"Noble knight, if you disdain not to grace by your acceptance a bugle which an English yeoman has once worn, this I will pray you to keep as a memorial of your gallant bearing—and, if ye have aught to do, and, as happeneth oft to a gallant knight, ye chance to be hard bested in any forest between Trent and Tees, wind three mots upon the horn thus, Wasa-hoal! and it may well chance ye shall find helpers and rescue."

"I would," said the leader, "we could hear tidings of our joyous chaplain—he was never wont to be absent when meat was to be blessed, or spoil to be parted; and it is his duty to take care of these the tithes of our successful enterprise. I have a holy brother of his a prisoner at no great distance, and I would fain have the Prior to help me to deal with him in due sort—I greatly mis-doubt the safety of the bluff priest."

While they thus spoke, a loud shout among the yeomen announced the arrival of him for whom they feared, as they learned from the stentorian voice of the Prior himself, long before they saw his burly person.

"Make room, my merry-men!" he exclaimed; "room for your godly father and his prisoner." And making his way through the ring, he appeared in majestic triumph, his huge partisan in one hand, and in the other a halberd, one end of which was fastened to the neck of the unfortunate Isaac of York.

"For the love of God!" ejaculated the poor Jew, "will no one take me out of the keeping of this mad—I mean this holy man?"

TIRE INDUSTRY MAY TOP GOAL OF 66,000,000

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Good news for motorists: The rubber industry bids fair to surpass its towering production goal of 66,000,000 new passenger tires this year.

Civilian production officials made this encouraging forecast today, saying the record output drive is being helped by new cotton yarn controls protecting tire cord supplies.

The industry's goal is 13,000,000 tires more than the estimated 53,000,000 passenger casings produced in the previous year of 1941.

Despite the present bright outlook, however, CPA officials cautioned motorists that retail dealers probably will continue to run a week or two behind on the tire deliveries through the summer, catching up with day-to-day demand only in the final quarter of the year.

Advice For Vacationists

As advice to intending vacationers, one CPA spokesman offered: "Put yourself on a dealer's list in plenty of time, expect delivery in 10 days to two weeks, have one of the old tires recapped for a spare."

Far in the forefront of reconversion, tire manufacturers so far this year have eclipsed 1941's peak production rate but are crowding the limit of their materials supply.

The shortage of truck and bus tires already has eased off to such an extent that dealers in some sections are building up some inventory supplies. The same is true of tractor and other farm-vehicle tires in certain areas.

In the passenger tire field, however, the expected 25 per cent increase in demand during the summer probably will offset the ahead-of-schedule progress of the tire companies, CPA officials said.

WESTINGHOUSE STRIKE LONGEST

Pittsburgh, April 25 (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric corporation strike entered its 101st day today with company officials declaring the nation's largest major walkout had crippled reconversion in the electrical and allied industries.

From conference rooms here, where negotiations were resumed last week after a month's inactivity, came little news for the 76,000 production workers who quit work January 15 in the demand of the CIO-United Electrical, Machine and Radio Workers for wage boosts of $2 a day—now reduced to 18¢ cents an hour.

Employees in 23 Westinghouse plants over the nation are involved. Westinghouse officials said the workers are losing $642,000 per working day, or well over $43,000,000 to date. Company officials estimate total loss of business at $100,000,000.

The company's current offer is for average increases of 15.1 cents an hour for all types of employees, a figure it said would cost $30,000,000 a year or $4,000,000 more than the firm's 1945 income. Production workers, who constitute more than half all hourly paid employees, would receive 17¢ cents an hour increase and unionized salary employees would get $30.30 a month more.

Westinghouse reported its monthly sales down to $10,000,000, compared to $57,000,000 this time last year. State police still stand on corners and sidewalks around the firm's biggest unit in East Pittsburgh.

Detroit Express Is Snarled By Strike

Detroit, April 24 (AP)—Business at the Detroit Railway Express company terminal was tied up today for the third straight day as 1,000 workers remained away from their jobs in the possible forerunner of a nationwide express walkout.

Formal notification of a general strike of 65,000 AFL express company workers at 12:01 a. m. Friday was received last night by the National (Railway) Mediation Board at Washington, but a New York strike apparently was set for 24 hours earlier.

George M. Harrison, grand president of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Workers, announced the countrywide plan. In New York Local 2130 President Daniel Harrison said instruction had been sent to 12,000 metropolitan workers to halt all operation at midnight Wednesday.

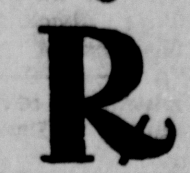

The Detroit tieup began Monday when employees walked out to attend a union meeting to consider the company's wage increase offer of 10 cents hourly. The union, which has demanded a 16-cent hourly boost, voted down the proposal.

OPA CONSIDERS PRICE BOOST TO PRODUCE SHOES

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, April 25 (AP)—With OPA's approval, the Civilian Production Administration pushed plans today to suspend a manufacturing control which helped hold shoe prices down during the war.

And OPA laid some plans of its own to boost prices on low-cost shoes in an effort to make more of them available.

Meanwhile there were these other developments touching consumer needs and pocketbooks:

1. OPA rushed a survey to determine whether its regulations will jeopardize shipment of men's suits to stores after May 1.

2. Dealers met with OPA to discuss the possibility of a tire price increase.

No Longer Needed
OPA's shoe production control has required manufacturers to turn out the same proportion of low-priced footwear they did during 1942. The principle is the same as that on which OPA's loudly criticized maximum average price regulation on clothing is based.

OPA had planned to wipe the shoe order off the books. OPA objected and the agencies compromised on a plan to suspend it. This would permit re-instatement of the order should shoe prices get out of hand.

A CPA official who withheld use of his name said the order is not needed any more because shoe production has climbed so much. He estimated present output at about 42,000,000 pairs monthly, or close to 10,000,000 pairs more than in any previous month.

To Discourage New Costly Lines
OPA believes that with production running at that rate, manufacturers will turn out plenty of low-cost shoes voluntarily.

But despite this and its agreement to go along, OPA is finding it necessary to increase inexpensive shoe prices to obtain more production. An indirect reason is to discourage manufacture of new high-priced lines.

An OPA official estimated the price increase may be about 10 percent. The plan is to apply only to models which were made in 1942 and which probably will sell at $5 or less.

Check On Suits
As for men's suits, OPA began its study yesterday after a clothing industry spokesman had asserted that suit deliveries to retail stores would have to stop May 1 unless the maximum average price regulation is amended.

The agency is checking manufacturers' cost and production records, and expects, officials said, that the average price order will have to be liberalized because of the shortage of low-cost fabric.

Any tire price increase will be to offset a wage boost recently granted by the rubber industry. OPA reportedly already has indicated to tire producers that they will receive a price hike. The purpose of today's meeting with dealers is to decide whether any increase allowed should be passed on to the public.

TRAGEDY ON TRACTOR
Titusville, Pa., April 25 (AP)—A tractor overturned as it was being pulled out of the mud on the Earl McCullis farm north of here last night, killing the driver, Arthur Smith, 43, of Centerville, Deputy Coroner C. M. Sonne reported.

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The Northern Allegheny Broadcasting company of Warren, Pa., has filed application for a new radio station operating on 1310 kilocycles, one kilowatt power, during daytime hours, the Communications Commission announced.

Shroyer Calls For End To 'Honky-Tonks'

Johnstown, Pa., April 25 (AP)—John U. Shroyer, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, called today for elimination of "brothels, honky-tonks, one-man clubs and other disorderly resorts now successfully masquerading as legitimate taverns."

Making public an 11-point platform at a meeting of the Cambria county Shroyer-Frank campaign committee here, Shroyer said he and J. Calvin Frank, candidate for internal affairs, pledge themselves, if elected, to "enforce vigilantly" all existing liquor laws and "reorganize drastically" the state Liquor Control Board.

EXPECT BANNER YEAR ON 'SUPER'

Harrisburg, April 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania turnpike commission looked for 1946 to be a banner year in traffic on the commonwealth's $70,000,000 toll highway linking Harrisburg with Pittsburgh.

A commission spokesman reported today travel and revenues from the high-speed road hit a peak during the first three months of this year and "everything is favorable" for the increase to continue during the summer.

The turnpike, which has brought in $12,600,000 in tolls and revenue from concessions since it was opened in 1940, was used by 156,959 fare-paying vehicles last month while total revenue was $247,158 against $156,916 for the corresponding month of 1945.

The turnpike operated in the red for most of the war because of gasoline and tire restrictions a turn into the black occurring last summer after V-J Day.

The road was financed through grant and loan of federal funds with the last of $43,800,000 in bonds falling due in 1963.

QUESTION COST TO FINISH ROAD

Harrisburg, April 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania has raised the issue whether the U. S. should not bear the added expense of completing a major highway-improvement project which a federal agency ordered stopped during World War II.

The problem has arisen with post-war efforts to complete reconstruction of U. S. Route 40, "the National Pike," in Fayette and Somerset counties.

T. C. Frame, chief engineer of the Highways department, told a reporter it will cost approximately $250,000 more to finish the job than it would have, had the original

$1,511,000 contract been carried through. It involves raising a section of the highway and building the Somerset viaduct.

The project was required because of impending inundation due to the Youghiogheny reservoir flood control plan, said Frame, and the U. S. therefore agreed to contribute $707,000.

Approximately $1,085,000 has been spent when the War Production Board ordered work halted April 17, 1943. The state cancelled the contract, and bought the fabricated steel for the projected viaduct for $128,000 at the then-current market price, for future delivery.

Baseball evolved from the English game of cricket.

Game cocks have been known to sit and hatch chicks.

Further Delay On Daily Milk Delivery

Harrisburg, April 25 (AP)—Every-other-day delivery of milk to the doorstep, started as a wartime conservation measure, will be continued indefinitely in most areas of Pennsylvania.

Only the Pittsburgh and York areas, where dealers did not ask for continuation of the restrictions, will be excluded from orders being issued by the Milk Control Commission continuing the curtailment beyond May 1, said Chairman H. N. Cobb.

The commission acted within a week after a public hearing on the petition of dealers from many sections to make the curtailed service mandatory. Spokesmen said a return to daily deliveries inevitably would raise costs—and prices.

In some areas, milk will continue to be delivered to households on every other day, with four-times-a-week delivery in other sections. The restrictions also hold wholesale deliveries to six days a week, and prohibit special deliveries.

SENATORS SAY PEOPLE WANT OPA CONTINUED

Washington, April 25 (AP)—As many as 1,000 or more letters and telegrams a day are pouring in to Pennsylvania's senators urging them to do what the two administration-supporting Democrats are considered certain to do anyway—defend OPA.

Neither Joseph Guffey nor Francis Myers has announced publicly what his stand will be on the OPA bill, which was passed in the House last week but from past performances they are generally regarded as among those Senate Democrats certain to line up for the kind of OPA bill the administration seeks.

Myers' aides said all but a few score of the 1,000 or more daily letters urge continuation of OPA, along present lines, for a full year and are against amendments tacked on in the House.

Guffey's office staff, although not estimating the number of communications received, told a reporter the volume compares favorably with that received on any single issue in the nearly 12 years Guffey has been in office.

Most of Guffey's OPA mail is in defense of OPA, his aides said.

The offices of several Pennsylvania representatives also reported their OPA mail is heavy although the House has completed action on the bill.

Aides of Rep. Kunkel (R-Pa.), who was one of four Pennsylvania Republicans recorded against one or more of the House amendments, said many letters congratulate him for "straying from the party line" in the OPA issue. On the seven House rollcalls on OPA amendments, Kunkel voted for two-one to limit OPA's life to nine months after July 1 and the other to end food subsidies. He voted against the others.

Aides of Rep. McConnel (R-Pa.), who voted for five and against two of the administration-opposed amendments reported no unusual volume of mail.

Edge Asks For Kilmer To House Veterans

Trenton, N. J., April 25 (AP)—Governor Walter E. Edge announced today that he has requested Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson to abandon Camp Kilmer as a military installation and turn its entire facilities over to housing 4,000 New Jersey veterans and their families.

One of the largest centers in the country for embarkation and debarkation of troops, Camp Kilmer would offer community advantages, Edge said, far in excess of any program for transporting temporary housing units into the state.

He said his request was based on the belief that Kilmer's present duties could be taken up by Fort Dix and Fort Monmouth, as suggested in a memorandum to the governor by State Quartermaster General Stephen H. Barlow. Barlow recommended the use of Kilmer for veterans housing after making a survey at Edge's direction.

REMINISCENCES

70 Years in Gettysburg By DR. HENRY STEWART

THE CHAIR OF CHEMISTRY Edward S. Breidenbaugh, Sc.D. "Bredly" as we affectionately called him, was, I think, the most respected man who ever taught here.

In addition he taught mineralogy, metallurgy, geology, zoology, and botany (what were then classed as the "natural sciences")—and he knew his subjects. Long years after his active teaching he could authoritatively discuss any of them, off hand. And he knew how to teach them. When he retired, after more than 50 years of teaching, he had piled up a record never exceeded, and seldom, if ever, equaled, in the number of men in scientific pursuits, many of them of eminence, who owe to him the training on which their success was based. If I may paraphrase Mr. Churchill, seldom have so many owed so much to one man.

He was not always the calm, equable, imperturbable individual we knew in later years. I have a very vivid recollection of the day he found me in the laboratory, making gun cotton. (not as an explosive—but as an ingredient of collodium, used photographically). He did not say much, but more expressive than a dictionary of words was the way he grabbed that dish, rushed to the door, and flung it as far as he could.

It was my privilege to know him intimately in his later years, as his family physician for 14 years. This, with his asking me to assist him in the laboratory during the emergency of 1918, was the greatest compliment ever paid me. It is a most treasured memory that I can look back upon, that I was able to repay, in some small measure, the debt I owed him.

You may take exception to the absence of the title "Doctor" in the foregoing descriptions. Some of them later received the degree, but, at the time about which this is written, doctorates were very few, not a "dime a dozen," as today. Professor was their designation and mode of address. The word carried a definite dignity—but that was before the title had been appropriated, by school teachers, battlefield guides and dancing masters.

The schedule was at 8:00 a. m. (preceded by 15 minutes chapel) 11:00 a. m. and 4 p. m., with the intervening hours and evenings as study periods, except Wednesday, P. M., devoted to the society meetings, and Saturday p. m. a half holiday. This may seem to be rather leisurely, but I do not remember seeing as much time spent in extracurricular activities and sports as today.

The Literary Societies Philomathean at the east end, Phrenokosmian at the west end—rooms on the fourth floor—meeting Wednesday afternoon were for many years a valuable educational feature, really a part of the scholastic schedule. The sessions, conducted with scrupulous observance of parliamentary niceties, were devoted to oratory, declamation and debate. Membership included practically the entire student body. I think it was obligatory. Commencement was the outstanding social event in Gettysburg of those days, beginning on Sunday, it lasted until Thursday, the graduation exercises, when every member of the class orated—often lasting past noon. It was held in the College church.

Wednesday morning was occupied by a similar performance of the Junior class. At both these functions showers of flowers and gifts brought satisfaction to some, heart burnings to others.

In my Junior year, the winter of '87-'88, it was planned to curtail these exercises by having only half of the class speak—chosen on the basis of scholastic standing. I was one of those chosen, but did not reach the dignity, for reasons that will appear later.

(A an earlier date, the "Sophomore Originals" had been delivered to an empty church, training for the great event.)

For many years an extra curricular activity was the Washington's Birthday parade, masquerade. All sorts of characters were portrayed, some of them very cleverly, including impersonations of the faculty members, with their peculiarities grossly exaggerated. I remember one, in particular—of "Dutchy" Martin with feet about three feet long. No, you guessed wrongly, it was not by me.

The parade was usually led by the band and the "devil" brought up the rear. I had a photograph of one of the aggregations on the college steps, but can't find it now—I was in it as "Jeff Davis in his wife's dressing gown."

The Class of 1889 It was unusually constituted. It graduated 26 or 27, as I recollect, and nine of its original members were professor's sons or town residents, Sanford Martin, Morris Croll, Horace Bickle, Norman and Donald McPherson, John Reed Scott, Robert Wible, Ira Tipton and myself.

The "old adage about room at the top did not hold, for here the top was impregnably held by Sanford Martin, son of Professor Martin. He was absolutely letter perfect all through. And yet, as often happens with prodigies, very little was heard of him in after life. Morris Croll, son of Professor Croll, probably approached most nearly the status of a competitor. On the contrary he has made good as a member of the Princeton faculty. The rest of us were simply "also rans," though we had some men who, under other circumstances, would have been rated as outstanding students, among them Donald McPherson, later judge of the county courts, and John Reed Scott, a lawyer, and author who achieved considerable prominence.

Discipline (?) was maintained in the building by two proctors, usually seminary students, who resided in the building on the second and third floors. A favorite diversion was to abstract a bowling ball from the gymnasium and on suitable opportunity send it roaring down the hall, which, as previously noted, extended the full length of the building.

"Sassed" the Proctor One day, in February, 1888, I think, as I came out of a room where I had been awaiting a class period, such a ball went booming down the corridor—a second later a proctor popped out, and, perhaps naturally, blamed me for it. But this time I was not guilty. It is entirely possible that my disclaimer was not couched in very polite language, when he did not believe my statement. Be that as it may, I was hailed before the faculty (my first such experience) and accused of "sassing" the proctor. This I freely admitted, and was promptly indefinitely suspended without any reference to the genesis of the occasion.

At the June meeting of the board, Hon. David Wills, my guardian, himself a member of the board, laid the facts before it so convincingly that my sentence was rescinded, and in September I returned to college without any conditions, except the inevitable consequence of beginning the Junior year again.

I stayed there during the fall term, simply as a vindictive step, as I had persuaded Mr. Wills to allow me to begin the study of medicine, which I did with Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal in January, 1889.

Thus ended my college education. In England, for many years after the Magna Carta, a woman could not legally accuse a man of murder.

BENTON BEFORE AP DIRECTORS

New York, April 25 (AP)—William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State, appeared before the board of directors of the Associated Press Tuesday in connection with the AP's termination of its news service to the State Department for shortwave broadcasting.

After the meeting Benton told newsmen: "They listened very courteously and attentively to my presentation for an hour. Then I answered questions for 45 minutes. I am very grateful to the board for having afforded me this opportunity."

Benton said the discussion dealt largely with the question of short-wave broadcasting and added there was nothing further he could say. This comment was made in the board's behalf: "As much that Secretary Benton discussed with members of the board was of a confidential nature, the board had no statement to make."

Robert McLean, president of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, was re-elected president of the AP by the directors. Norman Chandler of the Los Angeles Times was elected first vice president and Edward E. Lindsay of the Decatur, Ill., Review, second vice president. Lloyd Stratton was re-elected secretary and Frank J. Starzel, assistant secretary. Robert Booth was elected treasurer and Alan J. Gould, assistant treasurer.

urer. Booth, an employee of the AP for 10 years and auditor for the past five, succeeds L. F. Curtis, who retired.
